Chief Suspect in Brink's Robbery Slain by Shotgun Blast

MACARTHUR ADDRESSES CROWD IN DETROIT. Gen. Douglas MacArthur (at rostrum, left) is shown as he addressed a large crowd in Detroit's Cadillac Square, Friday. His speech climaxed a two-day visit to Michigan cities, including the state capitol in Lansing, where he addressed a joint session of the Michigan legislature. MacArthur told his listeners in Detroit that working men should take a firm stand "in the coming constitutional battle to save America."

Is Murdered Near Home In Rhode Is.

Roadhouse Operator Had Been Tabbed As Ringleader in Holdup

WEST WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—A man identified as the main suspect in the unsolved $1,219,000 Brink's robbery in Boston 28 months ago was slain by shotgun blasts outside his home early today.

The body of Carlton M. O'Brien, 49, a roadhouse proprietor, was found near his Cadillac car about 6 a.m. and Police Chief Hector Groleau said he had been murdered.

Massachusetts Attorey General Francis E. Kelly and Boston police Lieutenant Inspector James V. Crawley immediately tabbed O'Brien as the chief Brink's suspect.

Providence police quickly picked up another man, questioned in connection with another slaying. Police did not identify the man.

Both O'Brien and the man nabbed by Providence police were named, Kelly said, as Brink's robbers by Alfred A. Gagnon who was interviewed in Rhode Island State Prison at Howard May 14.

At that time neither Kelly nor William E. Powers, Rhode Island attorney general, would comment on Gagnon's conversation but Kelly ordered Massachusetts state police to put a 24-hour guard on the home of Gagnon's family in Williamsburg.

Gagnon also is said to have told investigators he received $15,000 as his share of the Brink's loot in a payoff at O'Brien's home but was robbed of the money almost immediately in a holdup in which shots were fired.

Shot Second Time

O'Brien's body lay on the sidewalk only a couple of feet from his car.

Investigators said a shotgun blast, apparently of buckshot, struck O'Brien in the right chest. As O'Brien fell against a hedge and then to the sidewalk, police believe, a man stepped close, pressed a heavy caliber revolver almost against his mouth and fired one shot into his head.

Chief Groleau theorized O'Brien had been shot about 2 a.m. (EST) when neighbors heard what sounded like two shots.

O'Brien last was seen alive at 1 a.m. in a diner which he runs in Providence.

The man seized in Providence was with him at 9 o'clock Friday night.

Police ruled out robbery as O'Brien was never known to carry his roadhouse receipts with him.

Providence police listed him as a public enemy.

Issues Statement

This statement was issued by Kelly:

"O'Brien was one of the two men named by Gagnon and he never had given those names before to any other authority any place.

"He insisted on a solemn promise from me as attorney general that if he named any persons I would put a 24 hour guard on his home where his wife and children live in Williamsburg. I have kept that promise."

Before conferring with R. I. Island officials Boston Lieutenant Crowley told reporters:

"O'Brien was the main Brink's suspect named by Gagnon. He

Gen. Clark Reinforces U.N. Guard Over POW Camps on Koje Island

Vote Every Dollar Asked, Truman Urges

Defense Program Would Falter Otherwise, He Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman confronted Congress today with a demand that it vote every dollar the administration has asked for defense, lest the mobilization program falter and the nation be plunged into World War III.

"To win the cold war Congress must give what we ask," the President told a national Armed Forces Day dinner here Friday night.

He branded as "poppycock" the argument that defense spending will bring on national bankruptcy. He said the only citizens who have suffered in the defense effort so far are the men fighting in the Korean war and their families.

"You must not do anything that will cause those men to get shot in the back," Truman said.

Extemporaneous Speech

The President spoke briefly and extemporaneously at the dinner after Secretary of State Acheson had delivered a full-dress speech on the theme that only the combined efforts of the United States and its allies can prevent Russia from "engulfing the world."

Both men stressed their belief in the need for increased American military strength.

The power which this country has generated so far in its defense drive, Truman said, has made "the path of an aggressor . . . . much more difficult, and that means that the chances of a third world war are just that much less."

He said he had worked for more than seven years to prevent a third world war and establish peace "and I believe we are on the verge of success in what we started out to do."

Could Be Upset

But he argued this could all be upset if the mobilization program which he said has gained tremendous momentum should now be damaged for reasons of political expediency by men "in and out of Congress who played petty politics and hamper our efforts."

"If the defense effort is not carried forward on an orderly basis," the President declared, "it just won't work and we will step right into World War III. And it can't be carried forward on an orderly basis without the necessary appropriations we need.

"And these appropriations should not be hamstrung with fool legislative riders. There is no use making the appropriations if you tie them up so that they can't be used."

GEN. BOATNER VISITS SICK COMMUNISTS. Brig. Gen. Haydon Boatner (right), accompanied by Army nurse, Capt. Parry, visits sick Communists in a prisoner of war hospital on Kjoe Island. It was General Boatner's first tour of inspection of his new command. It was on Koje that Communist prisoners of war seized and held prisoner, Brig. Gen Francis Dodd, then camp commander.

Crack Infantry Outfit Shifted From Japan

Says Precautions Taken to Prevent "Mass Outbreaks"

TOKYO (AP) — Gen. Mark Clark tonight said the U.S. 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment has moved from Japan to Koje Island to reinforce the United Nations guard over tough Red prisoners of war there and prevent "mass outbreaks which inevitably would result in additional violence and bloodshed."

The new U.N. Supreme Commander said he ordered the reinforcements to Koje "to insure the complete control of U.N. POW camp No. 1 at Koje-Do by the United Nations authorities."

Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, former commander of the island camp, was held hostage by the prisoners 78 hours last week. Dodd and his successor, Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, who agreed to stop screening prisoners in return for Dodd's release, both have been relieved of their command by Clark and returned to previous duties.

Clark has repudiated the concessions granted the POWs by Colson.

The newest commander, Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, has strengthened the island defenses since he took over.

Associated Press photographer George Sweers reported today that battle-toughened U.N. troops on the island were building new sandbag pillboxes and new guard towers.

Tanks Standing By

About 20 tanks, some equipped with flamethrowers, were standing by on the island in case of trouble.

Presumably the 187th took more tanks to the island today.

"I do not propose to countenance for one moment further unlawful acts on the part of these prisoners of war and civilian internees," Clark said in a statement.

He said the 187th had completed its movement to the island 30 miles off southeast Koren.

Clark, who took over the U.N. command one week ago today, said he ordered the paratroopers to Koje at the request of Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.S. Eighth Army commander.

He said they would temporarily reinforce the troops already there. U.S. troops and South Korean guards have in the past been guarding the POWs on Koje.

The 187th Regiment, a beefed-up unit larger than most infantry regiments, has been stationed at Beppu in southern Japan for about one years. Before that it was in Koren, where it participated in two combat jumps.

Oregon Goes Strong For Eisenhower

Shares Victory With Kefauver In Heavy-Voting Primary

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Mounting returns today magnified a smashing triumph for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his primary election bid for Oregon's 18 Republican delegates.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, on the basis of results from Friday's heavy-voting popularity poll, grabbed an equally huge lead that assured him 12 Democratic delegates.

Eisenhower, 6,000 miles away from the Oregon campaign, stands to gain 10 delegates pledged to the winner of the preferential election. And his supporters were ahead in contests with eight uninstructed delegate-candidates to point toward a possible clean sweep.

The early count gave Eisenhower a roaring ovation as the favorite of Oregon Republicans. It climbed dizzily to 45,351 as against 10,399 for the nearest rival, Gov. Earl Warren of California.

The same count brought a rewarding 32,955 total for Kefauver, who went out and shook hands with Oregon Democrats even though he faced competition only from two unwilling candidates. Justice William O. Douglas, with Oregon roots, got 6,566 votes he said he didn't want. Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson drew 4,877 after a similar don't-support-me plea.

Early Totals

Here's the count from 1,157 precincts. Eisenhower 60,880; MacArthur 7,410; Morse, 3,188; Schneider 216; Stassen 2,601; Warren 14,889; Taft (writ-in) 2,028.

President (Democratic) 1,157 of 2,269 precincts: Douglas 8,943, Kefauver 44,273; Stevenson 6,168; Eisenhower (Write-in) 168.

Eisenhower's showing as a vote-getter and his increase in delegate strength bolstered his race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Board Issues Statement on Campaign

"Keep Marion Ahead" Program Launched By Chamber of Commerce

Inauguration of a "Keep Marion Ahead" program by the Marion Chamber of Commerce was announced today by president Carl H. Knirk following a meeting of the board of directors.

The board adopted a formal "public statement" which said "our citizens are faced with the urgent need for an expanded action program to accelerate our economic and civic development."

All groups in the community are urged to participate, Knirk pointed out. During the initial phase, business and professional men and other civic-minded citizens will take part in a series of conferences to draw up an expanded program geared to Marion's development needs.

Jack R. Danner and Cleo R. Ludwig are the two general co-chairmen heading the movement. They, in turn, will name other chairmen to head the various divisions and committees.

Besides the special conferences to be announced shortly, speakers will appear before the different clubs and other organizations to outline the plans for the "Keep Marion Ahead" program, Knirk said.

Membership Campaign

At a later date, the chamber will conduct a campaign to enroll additional members and to provide an adequate financial budget for carrying on the expanded program successfully. The details of that campaign will be announced later, Knirk stated.

The "public statement" adopted by the board of directors follows:

"This is not just an ordinary message. Therefore, we ask that you give it the careful study it deserves.

"As we reflect upon the remarkable history and development of Marion and this area, our thoughts turn to the future and the opportunities which its bold challenge presents to all of us.

"Marion has a splendid future, perhaps far greater than anyone can foresee. But, the extent of our future greatness will depend largely upon the organized activities of the present. This means that our citizens are faced with the urgent need for an expanded action program to accelerate our economic and civic development.

"Since that matter affects the present and future prosperity of everyone, our efforts must be well-planned, carefully guided, and motivated by a sense of individual responsibility and an unselfish spirit of community service. Also, we need to recognize that we are facing new and different problems, requiring certain adjustments in our thinking and in our efforts as individuals and as a community.

Must Preserve Freedom

"Moreover in the present national emergency it is obvious that every effort must be made to preserve the American way of life—our great heritage of freedom. In this vital task, business and professional men and women have numerous leadership responsibilities to fulfill in the local community, and the Chamber of Commerce is a principal channel for this purpose. Surely we realize that our national strength depends upon the strength of each community and that our community's strength depends upon the citizens of Marion.

"Accordingly, the Marion Chamber of Commerce—proud of its record of service to its members and the public—is inaugurating the "Keep Marion Ahead" program to meet the challenge for expanded effort by our citizens through the years ahead.

"This will be an immediate and long-range program, conducted under the auspices of an expanded Marion Chamber of Commerce. It will require the counsel and assistance of the Chamber's members and all other citizens who are genuinely interested in the future of our community. The program will be built carefully, according to the best thinking and ideas of our citizens. We need your active interest and wholehearted cooperation.

"During the next few weeks, we shall invite the Chamber's

Would Make Ceiling 55 Billion

Spending Limit Proposed By Sens. Taft, Ferguson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ferguson (R-Mich) estimated today a constitutional amendment they propose would hold federal spending to about 55 billion dollars a year.

This would be some 30 billion dollars less than President Truman's budget requests for the 1953 fiscal year starting July 1.

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and Ferguson introduced a resolution Friday proposing a constitutional amendment to curb the power of Congress to appropriate money and to hike the public debt.

It would prohibit the lawmakers from authorizing expenditures in excess of 5 per cent of the estimated national income, except for military spending and interest payments on the federal debt.

Military spending would have to be defined by law, and could include outlays only for raising, paying and equipping the nation's armed forces, and providing military equipment for U.S. allies in time of war or to fulfill a treaty.

Another part of the proposed amendment would bar Congress from raising the public debt except by a two-thirds vote of both houses and then only to offset the difference between estimated revenues and actual tax receipts in a fiscal year or to meet the needs of war or other emergency.

In outlining the proposal to the Senate, Taft said:

"We are convinced that we cannot maintain a free economy in the United States if we spend more than approximately 25 per cent of the national income on government of all kinds.

Ex-Cons Still Tight-Lipped

Auto Theft Link In Dynamite Murder Case Investigated

By EMORY ANDERSON

Questioning of two suspects arrested in connection with the Wyandot County "dynamite murder" continued in Upper Sandusky today with little hope for an immediate break. Sheriff Ben Stansberry said no charges have been filed as yet.

Meantime a wealth of background material in the bizarre case is being accumulated by law enforcement officials in the state.

Whether or not Albert Lauerhass, 38, and Joseph M. Horay, 42, both of Cleveland actually did shoot Karl Kwinem, 38, of Cleveland and then dynamite his body remains to be proved, but they were arrested on high suspicion.

In Auto Racket

The two men and the victim were engaged in starting a used car lot to sell stolen cars, Cleveland police were quoted as saying in news dispatches from Cleveland. The method they planned to steal and sell the cars might have succeeded had not the death of Kwinem interceded, Cleveland police reported.

Here is the way they said the scheme would be worked:

Wrecked new cars would be purchased by the three men, thus giving them possession of the title. They would then steal another car of the same body style and make, and burn the numbers from the stolen car and replace them with the numbers of the wrecked car. In this way the stolen auto could be sold with an apparently legitimate title.

Kwinem recently purchased a lot in Maple Heights, a Cleveland suburb, and had erected a shanty and had signs painted preparing to go into business selling the cars. He operated a filling station near the lot.

Associated in Business

Nearby residents told Cleveland detectives that Horay and Lauerhass had been hanging around the filling station Kwinem operated and Sheriff Stansberry said Friday after questioning the suspects, both ex-convicts, that they all were business associates in the used car field and that there was some friction between them because of that business.

Described as "tough eggs," the two men are tight-lipped about Kwinem's death. One of them, Lauerhass, was indicted by the Marion County grand jury Friday on an auto theft charge.

In Vicinity May 8

Stansberry said the two were in this vicinity May 8, the night Kwinem is believed to have been shot and his body blown up on a Wyandot County farm.

Kwinem may have been driving the green 1949 Ford two-door sedan found burned out near Nevada a week ago today. The car was reported stolen in Toledo March 7 and was found with the serial numbers burned off. It was identified through a secret number hidden on the frame.

Lauerhass definitely was in this vicinity May 9. He was arraigned

Phil Murray Lashes Out At Sawyer

PHILADEDPHIA (AP)—Philip Murray, still seeking a wage increase for his steelworkers after five months of negotiations, has lashed out critically at the boss of the federal-seized steel mills, calling the Secretary of Commerce biased and no friend of the CIO union.

The president of the CIO-United Steelworkers said Friday that Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer had exhibited an "unthinkable degree of bias" in operating America's basic steel mills under orders of President Truman.

The charge came as the four-day sixth (biennial) constitutional convention came to a close.

But as Murray criticized Sawyer he hoisted aloft a tiny smoke signal for steel labor peace, urging officials of the industry to call a meeting "promptly" and "to bargain out agreements based on the wage stabilization recommendations."

Oil Workers Slow In Getting Back to Work

DENVER (AP) — The back-to-work movement of a large portion of the nation's refinery and pipeline oil industry workers was a slow trickle today, the 17th of a nationwide strike.

Meanwhile, some industry supplies continued short, especially aviation gasoline.

Settlements, which were expected to be quick if not completely satisfactory, are slow in coming.

About 35 CIO oil workers struck the WYCO pipeline in Colorado and Wyoming late yesterday. The line supplies 130 million of the 500 million gallons of refined gasoline used each year in Colorado.

The strike had been postponed twice. Union representatives had balked at a contract which they said did not offer satisfactory retroactive pay or any clause for reopening of wage talks. Similar difficulties were encountered in other areas, particularly in Texas, where talks are continuing on a plant-by-plant basis.

Mother Sole Survivor Among 7 in Lima Fire

LIMA (AP)—Just six days ago four small children of the Harry Cavanaughs burned to death in their home in suburban Lima.

The next day, Monday, the last remaining child died in a hospital along with a neighbor boy who had been visiting in the home.

Early today, the father, Harry Cavanaugh, 54, died in St. Rita's Hospital of severe burns suffered when he tried to save the children.

The mother, Mrs. Cavanaugh, 28, collapsed when told she was the last survivor of the once-large and happy family.

Last Effort, Reds Told

MUNSAN KOREA (AP) — United Nations truce negotiator Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy told the Reds today the U.N. command has made its "final negotiatory effort" and suggested the Reds re-evaluate their behavior in the "tragic situation you are creating."

At Communist insistence, the armistice negotiators will meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Saturday EST).

The Morning Light Is Breaking

A missionary hymn is made popular by a secular tune

Like his English predecessor, William Carey, American pioneer Baptist missionary Adoniram Judson had to light his own lamp and find his own path. A century and a half ago Protestant foreign missions was in its infancy and Judson worked in Burma for 15 years before he saw light on the horizon. But by 1829 Judson had built a school and a church, converts began coming in and the courageous missionary reported "The Light is Breaking."

While Judson was in Burma, Boston's Harvard graduate Samuel Francis Smith was studying for the ministry at Andover Theological Seminary. Smith knew half a dozen languages, could write poetry and was engrossed in the foreign missions movement. While translating a stack of foreign songs for Choir Director Lowell Mason, student Smith had come across a German tune he liked and wrote some verses for it and started America to singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee." That was in February, 1832. That same month Linquist Smith read Missionary Judson's report and write a poem about the light breaking in the foreign missions field.

While all that was going on George James Webb, musician son of a wealthy farmer in Salisbury, England, sailed for America to cast his lot at writing music. To pass time on the old windjammer, Webb wrote a secular number called "'Tis Dawn, the Lark is Singing." He had no more intention of composing a hymn tune than he had of swimming the Atlantic.

Samuel Smith's missionary hymn was sung to various tunes for nearly 30 years. Then, in 1861, it was published to the tune George Webb had written on board the boat. It became so popular that three years later soldiers of the Union Army began singing the recently written "Stand Up for Jesus" to the same music and both hymns have been sung to Webb's secular tune ever since.

Samuel Smith was never a missionary, though his son was. He edited the Baptist Missionary Magazine for 15 years and was secretary of the Baptist Missionary Union. At 86 he had learned 15 languages and started studying another. Boarding a train in Boston in 1895, when he was 87, Dr. Smith died before the train left the station. Of his 150 hymns his best was inspired by Missionary Judson's report about the light breaking in Burma, but it is sung to music written for a song about a lark. Here are Smith's words . . .

The morning light is breaking,
The darkness disappears;
The sons of earth are waking
To penitential tears.
Each breeze that sweeps the ocean
Brings tidings from afar
Of nations in commotion,
Prepared for Zion's war.

See heathen nations bending
Before the God of love,
And thousand hearts ascending
In gratitude above;
While sinners, now confessing,
The gospel call obey,
And seek a Saviour's blessing,
A nation in a day.

Blest river of salvation,
Pursue thine onward way;
Flow thou to every nation,
Nor in thy richness stay;
Stay not till all the lowly
Triumphant reach their home;
Stay not till all the holy
Proclaim, "The Lord is come!"

Rich dews of grace come o'er us
In many a gentle shower,
And brighter scenes before us
Are opening every hour,
Each cry to heaven going,
Abundant answer brings
And heavenly gales are blowing,
With peace upon their wings
(Samuel Francis Smith, 1832)

FINGER INJURED

UPPER SANDUSKY—Mrs. Fred Stahr, a Daily Chief-Union employe, lost the tip of the middle finger on her left hand while at work in the composing room Tuesday. Mrs. Stahr was pulling a proof on proof-press when the heavy roller slipped and clipped off the finger tip at the base of the nail. She was treated at the office of a local physician and an effort to restore the severed tip is believed to have been successful.

Safe In Christ

A Sermonette

By THE REV. NORMAN D. RENN
Pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist Church

Text: "I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." —II Timothy 1:12.

HERE is the question, "Are you safe in Christ?" The apostle Paul was sure that the Lord Jesus Christ was able to save and keep his soul. He knew Jesus personally as the One who had watched over him every hour. He had learned from experience that he could trust his Lord in all of the circumstances of life. He could say, "I am sure that the Lord is able to keep what I have given Him until that Day."

There are many people who do not know experimentally the Lord Jesus Christ. They bear evidence that there standeth One among them, whom they know not." John 1:26. Considering this ignorance of Christ, so noticeable even among professing Christians, it is little wonder that God spoke through His prophet Hosea, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge." Hosea 4:6.

Read The Bible

Godly knowledge does not come through instinct or through intuition. Human science and professions are never learned without research and study. Neither can an understanding of the Christian religion be obtained without studying and searching the book that tells about our God. That book is none other than the Bible.

If hearts and minds are not to become fertile fields in which Satan will sow seeds of doubt and discontent the Bible must be used regularly and systematically. A larger vision of Christ's person and a deeper knowledge of His truths comes chiefly through using the Bible. When more attention is given to God's book of instruction we will be enlightened and guided as we read it.

Rest in Christ

Also, knowledge grows out of fellowship with the Lord Jesus. "Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the Lord." Hosea 6:3. Assurance, abundance and appreciation are provided by this friendship.

Knowing about Christ is the knowledge of Christ and knowing Christ is the knowledge of acquaintance. After knowing about Christ comes knowing Him in relation to our salvation. There is a vast difference between these two. We may know about a man because of the things we have heard about him; but we may not know the man personally. So it is with Christ.

It is not sufficient to know about His wonderful works. We need to know Him through what He has done for us as individuals. For we read in His Word that "He tasted death for every man"; also that "while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." Our greatest discovery in life is when we realize that we are sinners and then find the Lord Jesus Christ as our personal Saviour.

Many when asked if they are Christians will feebly answer, "I hope so" or "I try to be." Such replies signify a sad lack of assurance. If you have been united in the holy bonds of matrimony and you are asked if you are married, you will not answer, "I hope so" or "I try to be." Instead you will reply with an emphatic "yes." True Christians may speak with an even greater degree of certainty for "we know whom we have believed." Like Abraham we may not always know where we will go in this life or what we should give, but we do know whom we are following and we do know who is faithful. We know we are safe in Christ. How solemn and sobering is the thought that we have not always sought to recognize Christ in our daily lives.

The Bible says many times, "I know." Job said, "I know that my Redeemer liveth." Job 19:25. The people said to the Samaritan woman, "We know that this is the Christ, the Saviour of the world." John 4:42. The apostle Paul wrote these words while in prison, "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God." Romans 8:28. There is no doubt in these words spoken by believers of the past. Their speech rings with inspiring certainty.

Receive God's Grace

The apostle Paul prayed to the Lord three times to remove the thorn in the flesh. The reply came in these words, "My grace is sufficient for thee.' The One who had saved Paul and who was now keeping him said in so many words, "That thorn is necessary to keep you from being exalted above measure. Don't pray that I should take it away. Let it alone."

In the garden of Gethsemane Jesus had prayed, "Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me; nevertheless not my will, but thine be done." Luke 22:42.

The Christian can face the problems and perplexities of each day with confidence that God's grace is sufficient. He has not been left helpless as an orphan. Christ lives within his heart. Either He will shield him from suffering or He will give his child unfailing strength to bear it. Remember God is with you just as He was with His suffering Son on the cross.

St. Paul's Church Project Will Help Japanese

In keeping with tradition coming from early days of the Christian church, the Rogation season will be observed Sunday with missionary emphasis at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. This is a time of intercessory prayer in behalf of agriculture and the planting of crops, applied from the scriptural admonition "Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only."

A missionary project of the church tied in with this idea is the work being done in a "county" in Japan, known as KEEP, Kiyosato Education Experiment Project, this word has for its goal the providing for a population of 40,000 4-H Club activity, a library, a clinic, and other benefits. It is sponsored by an interested U. S. Army officer, Col. Paul Rusch, an Episcopal layman, who has been in Ohio recently to speak in behalf of its support.

For the mission, members of the local parish will bring bars of soap to the service Sunday, the rector, the Rev. Frederick W. Leech, announced.

Following the service, a coffee hour will be held for the members and friends.

Sunday afternoon, throughout the Diocese of Ohio, simultaneous services will be held in 10 church centers to unite people of the parishes through the medium of a special Episcopal network of radio stations. The bishop, the Rt. Rev. Nelson M. Burroughs, will speak from St. Mark's Church in Toledo, then greetings will be given by the Rt. Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, retired bishop, speaking from St. Stephen's Church in Steubenville.

The highlight of these services will be the presentation of the Church Schools' Lenten Mite Box Offerings which will be used to further the missionary work of the church throughout the world. It is anticipated that the children's offerings will accrue in excess of $12,000.

The church in this area in which the service will be observed is Grace Church at Mansfield. Episcopalians from the nearby parishes will attend. Besides being carried on the air through Mansfield radio facilities, over Station WMAN, the service will be broadcast over four other stations including WMRN, Marion, at 3 o'clock.

WORKER BECOMES ILL

UPPER SANDUSKY — Robert Fischer, a machinist, was taken to Wyandot Memorial Hospital Wednesday night when he became suddenly ill while at work on the second shift at the Ohio National factory here. He fell unconscious near the machine on which he was working and suffered an internal hemorrhage after regaining consciousness a few minutes later.

Warns Russia Against Trying Germ Warfare

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of America's armed forces wants the Communists to know that if they try germ or gas warfare "They'll wish they had never been born."

It was clear warning the United States believes it is prepared to dish out far more than it might have to take in this field.

Against the background of a Pentagon news conference, Defense Secretary Robert Lovett Friday spoke out against Red propaganda charges that the United Nations had used these mass destruction weapons in the Korean war.

Giving American diplomacy a new and sharp tongue, the Cabinet officer said coldly that anyone who makes such charges "Lies in his teeth."

He fastened upon the charges raised by the Reds to nag the negotiators at Panmunjom the tag of "abominable, malicious falsehood."

Lovett appeared to discern something more deeply ominous than mere propaganda in the charges.

Today's Birthday

DONALD RANDOLPH WILSON, born May 17, 1917, in Detroit, son of an electrical engineer.

National commander of the American Legion for 1951-52, Wilson was a staff judge advocate on a hospital ship in World War II.

A West Virginia lawyer, he advanced through local, county and state posts in the Legion and took an active part in the Legion's foreign policy stand.

Oil Treating Set For Roads In Marion Co.

U. S. Construction Awarded Dust Control Project

Oil treating of the county's unpaved roads for dust control will begin about June 1, County Engineer Walter W. Johnson announced today.

He said the U.S. Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky has been awarded the job to apply a minimum of 70,000 to a maximum of 80,000 gallons of road oil at a price of $.1247 per gallon. The Board of County Commissioners authorized him to proceed with the work by force account rather than by advertising for bids. He said the force account method was used because of the length of time involved in advertising for bids and letting contracts.

The work will run between $0,000 and $10,000. Johnson said that the price of $.1247 per gallon is the same applied price as last year and less than half a cent higher than 1950 despite the fact that freight and labor rates have incresed in the last two years.

Beside county roads, roads in 11 of the 15 townships will be oiled in connection with the job. The townships are: Big Island, Claridon, Grand, Grand Prairie, Green Camp, Montgomery, Pleasant, Richland, Salt Rock, Tully, and Waldo.

The oil will be applied for 300 feet in front of each farm house on the designated roads. Harold E. Thomas of the county engineer staff will supervise the application.

To Deliver Final Sermon

The Rev. Hochstettler Sets Farewell Message

A farewell sermon to the congregation of First Evangelical United Brethren Church will be given by the Rev. Don Hochstettler Sunday morning. He has entered the religious education field of the Ohio Sandusky Conference of the denomination, and he and his family will live in Findlay.

Pastor here nearly five years, he was assigned to the local church in September, 1947, coming to Marion from Montpelier, O. He began his ministry in the old brick church which had housed the congregation for more than 100 years on the lots on S. Prospect St. which had been given for that purpose by the founders of the city of Marion. Two years after his coming to Marion the old building became unusable, and in April, 1950, it was demolished to make way for the new structure which was completed under his guidance and leadership and was dedicated on last Nov. 11.

During his ministry here, other property improvements have been made which include the remodeling of the rear of the parsonage, the razing of the old community house to make way for the parking lot, and construction of the retaining wall on the south side of the parsonage. This work was done altogether or in part by Rev. Hochstettler or supervised by him.

Under his leadership, there has been added to the church 124 new members. The total annual budget has increased from $8,000 in 1946 to $38,000 last year and this year will exceed $40,000. The annual per capita giving has increased from $26 in 1946 to $61 last year.

The church has been reorganized with a complete Sunday morning program for all ages. There is a nursery for children up to three years which functions each Sunday morning. The beginners department under the supervision of Mrs. Hochstettler carries a full program for Sunday morning for those 3 to 6. Sunday School and Junior Church meets for children up to the age of 12 and there is regular Church School and worship for youth and adults.

Rev. Hochstettler considers this his most satisfying achievement along with establishment of a program of stewardship and tithing which is the foundation of the financial system of the church, and the guidance of two young men of the congregation toward the Christian ministry, he stated.

He and Mrs. Hochstettler will take up their residence in Findlay where he will assume the duties related to the Religious Education Program of the Conference. He brings to the office special training and experience. He is a graduate of the Findlay schools, of Ft. Wayne Bible College, and Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill. and received his divinity degree from Bonebrake Seminary, Dayton.

For six years preceding his entrance into the ministry he was teacher and administrator in the public schools. While in Dayton, he directed the youth activities in the Euclid Avenue U. B. Church and served the church in Montpelier five years before coming here.

For his final message, he will give the concluding sermon in a series on stewardship. Opportunity will be given members to "enlist as stewards in the program of the church as it relates to service, finances, and work." There will be no evening service, except Youth Fellowship meeting. Circle 3 will meet Tuesday night with Mrs. Florence Rank as hostess. Mrs. Paul Clements, class leader, will be in charge of prayer service and Bible study Wednesday night.

Officers of the church and Sunday School elected recently will be installed Sunday during the Sunday School hour. They will assume their duties immediately.

Fire Sweeps Oil Tank Terminal

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A million-dollar oil fire which had burned all night in this coastal city was extinguished shortly after dawn today.

At least two of the ten burning tanks on the General American Tank Terminal were of the 80,000-barrel variety.

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—An area two blocks square in the vast Warner Brothers studio lay in blackened ruins today after a fire that caused damage officially estimated at $1,500,000.

4 Accidents Reported By State Patrol

Two Drivers Slightly Injured In One Collision

Four accidents on Marion area highways Friday were reported by the state highway patrol.

Cars driven by Chester Bartholomew, 65, of near Waldo, and Mrs. Mildred Arlene Dutt, 20, of near Marion collided south of Marion on County Road 108 at 12:45 p.m. Bartholomew was turning east from a private drive and Mrs. Dutt was traveling west. Damage to the cars was minor.

Bartholomew was charged with failing to yield the right of way and was cited to appear in Municipal Court today.

Cars driven by Ralph R. Frost, 19, of Nevada and John I. Boles, 23, of Nevada collided at the intersection of Route 231 and a Wyandot County road, 1½ miles south of Nevada, at 8:20 a.m. The cars were moderately damaged.

Both drivers were injured slightly, but were not treated immediately. Frost was cut near the left eye and Boles was bruised on the wrist and knee. The latter was cited by patrolmen to appear before Mayor L. W. Snavely of Nevada on a charge of failing to yield the right of way.

Car Hits Pole

The front end of a car driven by Reid D. Steinbauer, 50, of Columbus was extensively damaged when it struck a telephone pole on Route 42 at 3:40 p.m. Steinbauer lost control of his vehicle as he was driving south, about a mile north of Mt. Gilead.

Clarence E. Sutton, 45, of Columbus told patrolmen that he had been forced off the road by trucks passing each other on Route 23 in Delaware County, three miles south of the Marion County line. His car was extensively damaged when it went into a ditch on the right as he was driving south at 2:20 a.m.

Eight Arrests

Eight area arrests, five on charges of speeding, were also reported by the patrol.

Drivers charged with speeding, with arrest locations and case dispositions, are as follows: Dolth R. Traver, 38, Wooster, Route 42, in court May 20; Kenneth Dry, 19, Brooklyn, N. Y., Route 30-N, $15 and costs; Fay Erwin, 69, Harbor Springs, Mich. Route 23, in court today; Charles Sturgill, 22, Wyandotte, Mich., Route 23, in court May 19; James Ellison, 28, Willow Run, Mich., Route 23, in court May 24.

Paul Hooper, 31, of 131 N. State St, was fined $10 and costs in Marion Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of parking illegally on the highway. He was arrested on Route 30-S at 6:15 a.m.

Ronald G. Stansberry, 44, of Upper Sandusky was charged at 8 p.m. with passing without the assured clear distance on Route 23. He was cited to appear in Municipal Court May 21.

Arne D. Geltum, 58, of Toledo posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court May 24, following his arrest at 7:30 p.m. on a charge of passing without the assured clear distance on Route 23.

during that time. He will be empowered to serve papers, Retterer said.

Wills is an Air Force veteran of World War II. He is married and now employed at the Stewart Cash and Carry Grocery on W. Center St. He is a member of Lodge 70, F and A M, the Marion Exchange Club, and has been active in the Community Concert Association. Sheriff Retterer said his new job is considered on a part-time basis.

Mrs. Ross' husband is a former catcher with Marion in the defunct Ohio-Indiana Baseball League.

Gas Co. Host To Dealers And Salesmen

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was host for a dinner and meeting for appliance dealers and salesmen in Marion and Waldo Thursday night at Hotel Harding, with a demonstration session following at the office rooms. About 48 persons were present.

This affair was in preparation for the Gasco Food Institute which is to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, next week, in the Edison Junior High School auditorium. Open to the public, sessions will be each of the three night at 7:30.

Lecturer for the Institute, which is held in cooperation with local merchants, will be Mrs. Enid Barthelmas of Columbus. Themes for each of the three sessions will be "Blue Flame Hoe-Down," "Bargain Day—The Blue Flame Way," and "Blue Flame Cooking 'Round The Year."

In charge of the demonstration of gas equipment which followed the dinner was Mrs. Kathryn G. Asheraft of Columbus, field supervisor for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. In addition to dealers and salesmen, three manufacture representatives were present, Homer V. Miller of the Tappan Stove Co., William T. Clapp of the Detroit, Mich., Stove Co., and George H. Walting of Magic Chef Inc.

Murder

in Marion Municipal Court May 9 on a charge of stealing a car here April 28. Lauerhass was accompanied by David Eisenstein, a bonding company representative from Akron. They went to Attorney John Watters for legal representation at the hearing. Lauerhass was held to the grand jury and released on $5,00 0bond. Eisenreleased on $5,000 bond. Eisenhass as attorney in fact for the bonding company.

Watters said he had only met Lauerhass once before, the day of his arrest, and he knew nothing of his background.

Said Seen in Marion

Cleveland police report Lauerhass, Horay and Kwinem were seen in Marion the day Kwinem died, May 8. However, Marion police said they knew nothing of this report.

Officials report it is possible that the three men may have had some connections in Marion and that they may have been here trying to plan an outlet for their used-stolen cars.

Just where Kwinem was shot and for what reason has yet to be determined, along with the big question, who did it?

It is possible he was shot in Marion, and his body taken to the Wyandot County farm of Elmer Wyss before it was blasted to shreds.

Kwinem's remains, found Monday in the farm woods, were taken to the Ripepi Funeral Home in Cleveland today where they were turned over to his wife. She is now going under the name of Mrs. Karl Stone, since that is the alias used by Kwinem in his Cleveland filling station business and the used car lot. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Investigation and questioning the suspects continued all morning today with little likelihood of an early break in the case, Sheriff Stansberry said today. He said the two men had "clammed up" and the investigation would have to come up with some incriminating evidence before the two men would break. He said he had a wealth of circumstantial evidence.

Killed To Silence Him?

Marion County Sheriff LeRoy Retterer has a theory that the arrest of Lauerhass for the theft of the Marion car broke up the planned car theft ring and lead to the death of Kwinem.

He believes it likely that the three men, Lauerhass, Kwinem, and Horay, came down to Marion together May 8, the day Kwinem was killed, in preparation for Lauerhass' appearance in Municipal Court the next day to answer the auto theft charge.

It is possible that Lauerhass and Horay were afraid that if the case went to the grand jury, the jurors would get inquisitive and call in Lauerhass' business associates for questioning, and that Kwinen would crack, spilling what he knew of the auto theft ring. Therefore Lauerhass and Horay killed him to keep him quiet. They knew they had to dispose of his body and they used dynamite as the most thorough method, after slicing off Kwinem's fingertips, Sheriff Retterer theorized.

Sheriff Retterer said he thinks their car theft ring will also lead into Michigan, either Detroit or some cit[illegible]veen the Detroit and the Ol[illegible]igan border. There the ca[illegible] to be altered, and sent t[illegible]land for sale in Kwinen[illegible]-car lot.

Chamber

members and many other citizens to a series of important meetings and conferences to consider Marion's needs and to make plans to meet these needs. These sessions will be announced by press and radio, and all interested citizens are invited to attend.

"After building the program from the citizens' ideas and suggestions thus accumulated, the Chamber will conduct a campaign at a later date to bring additional members into active participation and to provide an adequate financial budget to carry on successfully the "Keep Marion Ahead" program. Details of the campaign will be announced at the proper time. Marion needs a Chamber of Commerce with ample strength for the bigger job ahead, and we will expand the organization so as to meet that need.

"The Marion Chamber of Commerce is a non-partisan, non-sectarian, unselfish organization. It is the channel through which the vast energies of our alert citizenry can unite and most effectively promote and develop the resources of this community. It needs and deserves the active assistance of everyone in business, industry or profession—and of all other public-spirited citizens—for the welfare of Marion.

Seek Cooperation

"We, the officers and directors of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, earnestly solicit the cooperation of the press and radio, business and professional men and women, labor, civic groups, and other organizations, together with all other civic-minded citizens. We urge you to take an active part in this program. Thus, you can do much to assure our future as a better city in which to live while earning a living. To do this is the opportunity and duty of every citizen of Marion.

"Adopted this the 16th day of May, 1952, by Officers and Board of Directors, Marion Chamber of Commerce: Carl H. Knirk, president; Edgar W. Barnhart, vice president; Paul Hunt, vice president; Francis B. Huber, treasurer; Floyd Cornely, assistant treasurer; Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary; Jack E. Lautenslager, assistant secretary; W. Hoover Brown, Carl E. Danner, Lester L. Dickey, Frank M. Foster, Howard F. Guthery, Dr. Frederick T. Merchant, Henry A. Mickley, John J. Ryan, C. W. Smoot, Julian H. Walker, Leonard Young."

The board of directors meeting was held in the Community Room of the West Town Bank.

3 Drivers Arrested On Traffic Charges

Three drivers were arrested on charges of traffic violations, city police reported today

Robert Eugene Cobb, 23, of New Bloomington was arrested on a charge of speeding on W. Center St. at 5.24 a.m. Saturday. He posted $35 bond for his appearance in Municipal Court.

At 4 01 a.m. Saturday William F. Swearingen, 23, of near Marion was arrested on a charge of speeding on E. Center St. He posted $35 bond for his appearance in Municipal Court.

Junior Sublett, 21, of Salyersville, Ky., was arrested on a charge of reckless driving on W. Center St. at 10 39 p.m. Friday. He was held for his appearance in Municipal Court.

The term "potato" was first applied to the sweet potato and later transferred to the white potato, although the two plants are only distantly related, says the National Geographic Society.

Nose-Cutting and Face-Spiting

FROM the comments made by members of the Supreme Court, it is plain that the highest court, itself, is likely to be of two minds on presidential powers of seizure.

It should not be forgotten that some of the justices are on the bench because they held views on executive power which were pleasing to the President who used it most boldly in modern times—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It particularly should be remembered that Associate Justice Clark, U.S. attorney general, propounded the theory that a President can do anything that comes to his mind.

The Supreme Court justices apparently are aware that vastly more than an abstraction is at stake; that Harry Truman is in politics and invariably has a political motive.

That is why the justices are curious about Mr. Truman's deliberate avoidance of the Taft-Hartley Act, in favor of improvising shaky authority of his own. Moreover, to back up this curious method of appeasing the union which was involved, he called on the Wage Stabilization Board to go outside its proper sphere and ditch the Taft-Hartley Act.

If impeachment proceedings were to open against Mr. Truman, this would be the most serious charge—that to spite certain political opponents he was capable of ignoring the principal law of the land dealing with industrial disputes. In judging the government's case, the members of the Supreme Court hearing evidence in the steel-seizure issue will need to take the question of good faith into consideration.

There was more involved than an emergency of industrial production. An emergency in governmental integrity had arisen, too.

Mr. Truman muffed it.

Campaign Line

THE closer the Democratic party comes to the beginning of its campaign to maintain itself in power, the more automatic its campaign strategy becomes.

No matter who the presidential nominee is, he will be committed by circumstances to a campaign line followed by Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

Chief of the circumstances is the urgent necessity of doing what the labor union executives and the big city bosses demand as their price for supporting the party.

They will demand that the nominee in 1952 do what Mr. Truman's shrewd political instinct prompted him to do in 1948—"give 'em hell." And they will demand that this be done, of course, on a selective basis.

No slurs will be cast on the 82nd Congress, because it is controlled by Democrats, though it has done virtually nothing.

Virtually nothing will be said about monopoly, because it is painfully evident in 1952 that the only monopoly in a position to throw its weight around is the labor union monopoly.

There is not likely to be any hue and cry about high prices, because everybody knows they are being kept high by confiscatory taxation.

This leaves the tried and true whipping boys—the National Association of Manufacturers, the real estate people, the "isolationists" and, sooner or later, Herbert Hoover.

The pattern has been set by the long record of success which the Democratic party has built up with its attacks on the straw men of politics—Wall Street, everybody who has saved money, private enterprise, the utilities industry and that catch-all of popular prejudice, the "selfish interests."

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas has been chosen as permanent chairman of the convention. Gov. Paul H. Dever of Massachusetts will deliver the keynote address—and the nominee, whoever he is, will be chosen for his ability to blast away at everything but corruption in government. That is why Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee does not even have an outside chance.

Intermission

THE probability of settlements between unions and managers in the oil industry gives the public another brief intermission before the next tie-up of production in some critical industry hits consumers over the head.

This is likely to occur in the steel industry, which will be closed down, according to union spokesmen, unless the U.S. Supreme Court favors them in its forthcoming decision on the steel seizure issue.

If a fresh crisis in steel is averted—which apparently could happen only if United Steelworkers got everything it wanted—the next crisis probably would come in the coal industry.

John L. Lewis, who developed the doctrine of industry-wide bargaining with its subsidiary doctrine of bringing pressure to bear on the whole nation simultaneously and, thereby dragging the federal government into collective bargaining on the side of the unions, still has some tricks up his sleeve.

If every renewal of a contract between employers and unionized employes in key industries is going to cause inconvenience to the sovereign people under whose authority collective bargaining is practiced, it goes without saying that the sovereign people will have to protect their interests, too.

Fight Against Profits

By David Lawrence

Danger of Opening Way to State Socialism

WASHINGTON

IF STALIN HAD HIS WAY he would demolish the American economic system because it alone can sustain a powerful military mechanism. But there are forces at work in America which are also seeking to do the same thing for an entirely different reason. Those forces are bent on destroying the profit-and-loss system because they want more wages, and their major attack just now is against profits as such. In the end it can only bring unemployment because many companies will not be able to survive the decline of the armament program at a time when high wage scales have become imbedded in the cost structure.

The CIO is the leader in the crusade against profits. It has been the policy of the CIO to do everything it can by way of legislation to reduce profits, and unfortunately President Truman and many of his officials have been duped into following the same line.

It was the CIO which led the fight for so-called "excess profits" tax legislation, believing that by putting up the rates of taxes to a high point employers would not hesitate to pay higher and higher wages because these costs are deductible as expenses. Indeed, Uncle Sam in many instances bears as much as 70 per cent of the increased expense and the corporations only 3 per cent. Experience after the last war, however, showed that wage scales never come down—in fact, in 1946 the demand was for 48 hours' pay for 40 hours of work. This helped to start the cycle of inflation which was accelerated by the Korean War.

THE RADICAL campaign against profits is, of course, a disservice to the persons of small income who will have to pay more and more taxes if corporation profits are wiped out. Some of the radicals who attack profits disclaim any intention of wanting to destroy the profit system—they argue that what they are after is reasonable or moderate profits.

But profits which do not provide "seed money" for the future—that is, funds to buy new plant and equipment—and profits that do not pay proper wages to those who invest their savings are not really moderate or adequate in any sense.

There are various ways of measuring adequate profits—sometimes by the per cent of gross sales and sometimes by the per cent of return on capital invested. What is often overlooked, however—and Mr. Truman is guilty of the same error—is that profits before Korea cannot be used to measure profits after Korea any more than living costs can be based on any such yardstick.

The profit dollar doesn't buy what it did before Korea. It doesn't buy as much construction or as much materials, and it does not buy the necessities of life for the investor as it did before 1950. Any appraisal which assumes that the workingman's dollar declines in purchasing power but that the investor's dollar buys the same quanty as it did before Korea is fallacious.

THE STRENGTH of the American system is related to a proper balance between the worker's dollar and the investor's dollar. Profits aren't things that the owners of companies eat up at the dinner table or spend in buying yachts. The government takes a large slice out of any rich man's income today so that there is small advantage to owners in large corporation profits. The real justification for adequate profits today is to save jobs and create jobs. If incentive is killed, if investors are discouraged, then the way is opened for state socialism, which is the first step toward communism. The Socialists disavow any such purpose but once they start an economic system down hill, the communiste planners pick up the pieces at the bottom and impose their totalitarian system in the midst of political chaos.

America is going through a profit crisis the true meaning of which may not become apparent for some months yet. But the drive is on, and whether Moscow has had anything to do with inspiring the drive — some unions have had believers in communism as their officers or general counsel—the effort to break down the profit system is on in earnest. The steel controversy showed how easy a man like President Truman—who never had the instincts of a radical, though he has gone along with radical doctrine on political grounds—can fall victim to the mistaken idea that government regulation of profits is a desirable policy, while wages can be permitted to go sky high without corresponding regulation. Once the balance is seriously disturbed, money for expansion becomes scarce and another avenue of socialism is opened up—capital funds furnished by the state, with everybody taxed to supply revenue.

The attempt to break down the profit system is surely something that the American Federation of Labor can hardly countenance, because the CIO tactics can only lead to nationalization of industries and the same deterioration that has ruined the economic system of Great Britain.

Potential WPA Project

By TRUMAN TWILL

SOME DAY when things cool off and there is time to delve into minor mysteries, attention should be given to the puzzle of women's handwork.

What is it about these unusual creatures which causes so many of them to tackle cheerfully projects which would give a mere man the screaming meemies?

What enables them to find relaxation in tasks which would be shunned by prisoners serving life as too boring and painstaking to be endured?

On what secret sources of patience do they draw to make it possible for them to fiddle with flimsy patterns on fragile paper, yards of material which ultimately will be hacked and twisted into wearing apparel, crochet work, tatting, knitting, needle-pointing and curtain-making?

What are they trying to prove?

The puzzle grows more puzzling every time one of their tasks demands an extra set of hands and the call goes out for a male "volunteer." Only last night, this happened. Draperies were being strung up on absurdly designed frames which fit over the top of a window. The idea, apparently, is to keep the windows from being looked out of—see?

Preposterous little hooks with nasty little pins had to be pushed through tough fabric and held in place while the whole silly mess was hoisted in folds of entanglement. Two minutes of this and the man of the house was a trembling, perspiring candidate for some attendant in a white coat.

ORDINARY CURTAINS are almost as bad, being less voluminous but more tender. What a mere man can do with a pair of ruffled curtains and a pair of curtain rods is a setup for a nervous breakdown. No mere woman, on the other hand, even gets wild-eyed under the same circumstances.

Or take the female pastime of knitting. Miles of yarn, undecipherable directions, ravelling out what has been done because of a few minor errors, starting all over again—this is child's play for the kind of mind which can hold itself together under the impact of an endless barrage of tremendous trifles.

Then there is the stuff called cut-out work, performed by snipping little holes in cloth and whipping the edges of the wound neatly with thread. Question: Why cut all those little holes in the first place? If kids did it, they would be punished.

Yet, the sex that makes sense out of this nonsense declares loudly it can see no sense in such reasonable things as machinery, fishing, sorting out screws and nails, rearranging tool racks and keeping old magazines in case something turns up.

If things ever do cool off and there really is time to try to make sense out of some of the nonsense going on, a thousand psychiatrists should be put to work on the puzzle of women's handwork. It would make a first-rate WPA project.

Their Best Protection

Congress Is Nice to Congress

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

IN A SPIRIT OF perfect harmony the House Democrats and Republicans have voted for a device for knocking thousands of dollars off their own income tax. Not yours. Theirs.

In this election year the men on Capitol Hill have called for economy in a stern tone that could be heard by the folks back home. And they have cut a slice off virtually every government spending bill that came before them.

Thursday, up came the annual bill covering the expenses of Congress for another year. Instead of cutting money for Congress, they upped it.

The bill, prepared by their own appropriations committee whose job is to glare at every penny before deciding it can spend, called for $62,391,780 for congressional expenses. The House increased this by $1,500.

Then the house voted to let every one of its members—there are 435 seats—spend up to $900 a year for office space back home if he can't find free space in some federal building there. Senators already have such an allowance.

IF EVERY MEMBER of Congress took advantage of this, the cost to the government would exceed $477,000 a year.

In the midst of this came an amendment from Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, leader of the Democrats. This amendment wasn't a sudden emotional notion by McCormack. It had been figured out by tax experts.

The Republicans promptly said they had no objections, which might indicate they thoroughly knew before hand what was in the amendment. It passed without argument, much to the astonishment of the reporters in the gallery who seldom see the Republicans and Democrats agree on anything.

In fact, the reporters rubbed their eyes twice because they suddenl realized they didn't understand the full significance of the amendment which provides:

That the place of residence of a member of Congress in the state, district or territory he represents shall be considered to be his home for purposes of the federal tax law.

THE REPORTERS checked with the Internal Revenue Bureau where they learned this is what the amendment means: It would let members of Congress deduct as business expenses all their expenses while living and working in Washington, away from home.

This would include the cost of food, transportation, hotel expenses, or expenses for renting or owning a house, tips and so on. A member couldn't deduct for the expense of his family.

(That's the way the law works for a businessman who comes to Washington on a business trip. He can deduct for his expenses here. But not for his family, presumably because he didn't have to bring his family.)

But, since some members of Congress live in very high-priced hotels, this McCormack amendment might mean no income tax for them at all. It would certainly mean far less income tax for all members of Congress.

All members of Congress, in House and Senate, receive $12,500 yearly in taxable pay, plus a non-taxable $2,500 for expenses. After next Jan. 1 they will have to pay on the $2,500. They voted last year to make it taxable.

If you're one of those who keeps a record on how his congressman votes, you'll have to leave a blank space in your book on this one. The House members didn't vote by name, but by voice which identifies no one.

Still, it can't become law unless the Senate also approves.

Dangerous Militarism

By George E. Sokolsky

Arthur's Lansing, Michigan, speech struck a new note. While he did not mention General Eisenhower by name, he did say this:

"It is now even proposed that our two-party political system be abandoned for all practical purposes and that both parties unite under the leadership of the same individual. Could there be a more shocking proposal!"

As only one candidate has been suggested as such a possibility, this could only apply to General Eisenhower and, to all intents and purposes, MacArthur might just as well have mentioned his name. It has been reported that Eisenhower did once say to MacArthur in Tokyo that he, Eisenhower, expected both parties to nominate him. President Truman has indicated his friendship toward the Eisenhower candidacy despite the general's assertion of Republican affiliation. To many, the personal popularity of General Eisenhower transcends political differences.

Even more drastic is this part of General MacArthur's attack

". . . we would be entirely dependent upon the paternalistic will of one man, and liberty as we have known it would disappear. The people would no longer be the master of their government, but its servant . . ."

—:—

IT WAS NOT expected that General MacArthur would attack the military, or the military mind, or a cabal of military individuals. Yet, in this speech, he did precisely that in language so clear and carefully chosen that its intent and purpose could not be doubted. The attack on military arbitrariness might well be a response to General Eisenhower's astonishing statement:

"If the people want me for president, they will know where to find me."

No politician would have dared suggest that the country come looking for him. A military man might say just that because of the adulation which he has known all his life and because of his specialized training. General MacArthur, the senior soldier in our service, 53 years in the army uniform, son of a father who had devoted his life to the army, knows the strength and weakness of military men. It is from such experience that he said, perhaps with trepidation:

"This form of political conniving is destructive to the very essence of true representative government and sets the stage for the emergence upon the American scene of the ugly threat of a military state.

"The gravity of this danger cannot be overemphasized. The history of the world shows that republics and democracies have generally lost their liberties by way of passing from civilian to a quasi-military status. Nothing is more conducive to arbitrary rule than the military junta. It would be a tragic development indeed if this generation was forced to look to the rigidity of military dominance and discipline to redeem it from the tragic falure of a civilian administration. It might well destroy our historic and wise concept which holds to the supremacy of the civil power."

THE "MILITARY STATE" is the condition that destroyed the Roman Empire, that reduced the Osmanli Turks, and that vitiated the conquests of Genghis Khan. It is the condition that produced countless revolutions in Central and South American countries and China. It gave to Spain its particular form since the monarchy fell. Contrasting to it is the civilian state achieved by such countries as the United States and Great Britain where the military have been held in check. General MacArthur may even be think-

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Alice in Koje Island Land

THIS IS THE ERA of Upside-Down Wars. And even if you stand on your head they don't look right. Things can be made more embarrassing only by the following communiques from Korea:

"There were renewed activities in our POW compounds during Monday night, and an attack by them seems in the making. Two of our investigating generals are missing.

"West of Yonchon a number of our brigadiers and major generals engaged in a sharp skirmish with their own prisoners and reported a loss of four points in a heated argument over demands for lighter barbs on barbed wire around all internment camps.

"In the Mundung Valley there was a threatened offensive by the enemy locked up in prisoner-of-war compounds, but it was held up pending our reply to a Commie demand that we give them air and artillery support for all POW outbreaks. We are holding our own against superior insolence.

"North of Chorwon sporadic activity among prisoners continued. Several of our generals volunteered for patrol duty and were captured by petition bearers who demanded one video set per prisoner and wine with dinner. We have conceded to all demands except one that asks that U.N. pay for all cut flowers with which the Commies decorate kidnapped members of the American high command. East of Wongdong one of our POW camps failed to return.

"In the Panmunjom zone a claim by the Communists that they have seized the U.N. headquarters in New York is believed to be an exaggeration."

Who's running this war anyhow, Emily Post? One of our recently captured generals told how the POWs decorated him with flowers before releasing him and says: "I was treated with the utmost respect and courtesy through my detention in the prisoner compound"!!! Is this such a topsy-turvey imbroglio that we ever settle for less when our own captives take us prisoner? It seems that at the Koje camp the prisoners had their own commissars, parliamentary experts and chairmen of the kidnaping committees. Everything was done politely. We showed almost as much patience in the compound as we are showing at Panmunjom. In this war we are not only turning the other cheek, but using a revolving face on our own necks.

Grant, Lee, Wood, Scott and Pershing must be turning over in their graves. They never were captured by enemy prisoners. (No prisoners gave them flowers on Mother's Day. And nobody said, "I intend to fight it out on this line if it takes the whole Book of Etiquette"!!!)

REPLY OF PFC. OSCAR PURKEY to whom a general exclaimed, "You don't know much of anything, do you?" after getting a series of dumb answers in Korea: "No sir, but I ain't never been taken prisoner by prisoners!" . . . We think our Acting Attorney General in that Supreme Court argument lost considerable influence as a result of that cutaway suit. . . . The tailor made the pants too loose. . . . Connecticut has decided that there is something a little inconsiderate about a doctor who gets a certificate of death in advance of a patient's demise, arranges weeks ahead to send the body to a medical school and ignores accepted practices in confirming a diagnosis (all in the case of a woman to whose estate he knows he will fall heir). . . . It has barred him from practice. . . . He will now be allowed to treat only his own illness and the big question is whether he will feel that he is in good hands. . . . "I Love Lucy" continues to bowl us over as top video fun. . . . Its great success is easy to explain: the performance of everyone concerned is a terrific relief from the sledge-hammer "anything-for-a-laugh" routines of so many other comedy programs.

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Sunday, May 17, 1942.

Albert V. Witt, 55, of 387 Hane Ave., sales representative on dump bodies and hoists for the Marion Metal Products Co. in the southern states, died in a Chattanooga, Tenn., hospital of a heart attack suffered in his hotel room. He had left Marion the middle of the previous week on a trip for the company.

Mrs. A. G. Brooks and son Donald of Chicago, arrived for a visit with Mrs. Brooks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Wetterauer of Mt. Vernon Ave.

Mrs. Nellie Redmon Huston, 74, wife of Frank Huston, retired Erie Railroad engineer, died of a stroke in their home at 220 Blaine Ave.

Miss Joan Schelb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Schelb of 313 S. Prospect St., senior at St. Mary Parochial High School, was announced as queen, receiving the honor of placing the crown of flowers on the statue of the Blessed Virgin at the annual May crowning exercises.

—:—

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was Tuesday, May 17, 1932.

It was announced that John Hughes Curtis, one of the Norfolk negotiators in the Lindbergh kidnap case, had written "a complete confession" that all the people with whom he had told of negotiating and all the boats on which he said he met them were creations of his own imagination.

The Ohio State Eclectic Medical Association convened at Hotel Harding, with 50 physicians and surgeons attending the opening of the two-day meeting. Dr. S. W. Mattox of Marion was president of the association.

One hundred and thirty Columbus businessmen were guests of Marion for two hours in the first step of the fifth annual good will tour of the Manufacturers and Wholesalers Association of Columbus. They were taken on a hasty tour of the city in charge of W. D. Brown, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, and other Chamber members.

Last social meeting of Altrusa Club for the season was a buffet supper at the home of Miss Christine Rieck of 128 S. Vine St.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON

THAT MAN IN the coonskin cap, Tennessee's gift to TV, has so successfully reached over the heads of the White House strategists and their labor allies and has developed such fantastic support inside the Democratic Party and the powerful unions that Mr. Truman has decided on a "Draft Stevenson" drive to stop Sen. Kefauver at the nominating convention.

He will have national labor leaders' support:

This I learn from one of the President's most intimate friends.

The draft to chill the crime buster would have been unleashed now if Mr. Truman were not eager to give Averell Harriman a chance to prove himself a good campaigner, capable of arousing strong labor support. But the national labor chiefs are passing on word that while they think Harriman is a "good guy", they want Gov. Stevenson.

And Harry Truman is with them, regardless of what seems like a presidential boom for Harriman. That's positive! Mr. Truman's appearance with Harriman, along with the country's most influential labor chiefs, at the Americans For Democratic Action banquet here is absolutely not to be taken as a pledge of support for his nomination bid.

The White House-labor coalition had been trying to kid Kefauver out of political existence—until recently. Suddenly the combine realized that the Senator had trounced the best Truman-labor campaigners could throw at him—cabinet members, ex-mayors, public officials, national political labor leaders and prominent attorneys high in the social circles of each city.

THESE PRIMARY election results startled and frightened the most cynical and hard-headed of a particularly unimpressionable stratum of this society of ours, the district machine leaders

They were hit hard by a sudden grim thought—the people were developing a decided political allergy towards machine candidates. The people were bolting to Kefauver, as they did in the Ohio primaries There, not only did the Tennessee Senator's "unknown amateurs" waltz through the primaries by defeating the genial Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, nominal manager of the country's steel mills, but also the men who run labor's biggest national political machines.

Kefauver's men trounced Jack Kroll, head of the CIO's Political Action Committee, who has been consulting with Mr. Truman in the past few weeks.

Kefauver's men ran well ahead of AFL Vice President George Harrison, director of organization of the AFL"s political group, Labor's League For Political Education.

And the coonskinner's men beat the energetic Phil Hanna, the dynamo behind the AFL's Ohio political machine, the man who led the drive against Sen. Taft in 1950. It means that Kroll and Hanna will not be delegates to the national convention. This is unusual for a national chief of the CIO's Political Action Committee, who in past years, if frenetic history is right, influenced the vice - presidential nominations and helped swing Harry Truman onto the 1944 national ticket.

SO THE KEFAUVER headquarters, whose prejudice in the matter is understandable, must nevertheless be harkened to when it interprets the senator's rank-and-file support as stronger than anything the labor leaders or the disturbed city leaders can whip up right now.

The Kefauver crew may be amateurs, but they know that when you work against the old machines, you're bucking the pork barrel boys. But the Tennessean's strategists are winning without benefit of patronage. How?

They don't quite know. Except that they are aware of strong support from the wives of working men in the big centers. They also report that despite "the Administration's' labor front" they have "fantastic" lower level labor support pledged secretly to them.

Their headquarters is flooded with messages from the second and third string labor leaders—business agents, local presidents, shop stewards and members of negotiating and grievance committees. This is the group which finds itself harassed by the goons and musclemen trying to make a soft buck out of the loan-shark, bookie and slugging rackets.

Kefauver has caught the little guys' imagination. And the big guys on top will have to move fast if they want to stop that Tennessee waltz and deliver the vote to Mr. Truman's choice, be he Harriman, Stevenson or anyone but himself

Universal Cooler, Depot Only Unbeaten Teams in League

Universal Cooler and the Engineer Depot remained the only unbeaten teams in the Industrial League Number 1, Thursday night, after two weks of play. Marion Industries, defeated last week by the Shovel, bumped General-Alloy into the losers column and Osco powdered Marion Power Shovel, 5-2, in a rigid pitchers' battle.

The Cooler racked up win number 2 over the Erie A A. by a 6-4 count by scoring all their runs in the fifth inning after Moak, Erie pitcher, had blanked the winners during the first four frames without allowing a hit. Banging out five hits coupled with a walk and an error, the winners overcame a 3-0 margin in their inning and held Erie to one additional run over the remainder of the game. Moak finished the final two frames without allowing another hit or run.

Led by Guy Lewis, the Marion Engineer Depot smothered Pollak under a barrage of base hits to win easily by a score of 15-1. Lewis, in his first appearance on the mound in two years, yielded only three hits to the Pollak batters. Steve Norris, Depot third baseman, belted a home run in the fifth with one man one.

Marion Industries got to Bud England in the first inning of their game with General-Alloy, racking up three runs on two hits, two errors and a hit batman, enough power to win the pitchers' duel by a 3-0 score. After the disastrous first frame England settled down to blank the Industries nine. Waugh, winning hurler, silenced the Alloy bats, allowing three scattered base hits to rack up his first shutout of the year.

Bud Thorpe hurled his second consecutive two hitter as the Osco defeated the Shovel, 5-2. The winners scored in every inning except the fifth, reaching Dwight Wilcox for a total of 12 blows. Only Seiter and Owens of the Shovel were able to solve the slants of Thorpe who, as usual, was in top pitching form.

Wife Educator

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

LET'S FACE IT, MEN. The potential danger of television isn't its effect on children. It's what it does to wives.

The truth is that television is the greatest wife educator since the invention of matrimony itself. I haven't heard of a bride insisting on taking her TV set on her honeymoon. But mark my word. It will happen.

Most men secretly believe that all the average wife really knows about the world is what her husband bothers to tell her—or what her womanly intuition prods her into suspecting.

Television has changed all that A turn of the dials brings all kinds of strange outside knowledge to the eyes and ears of the housewife. It makes her a close spectator of the problems of that part of the universe she doesn't have to dust herself. I have seen it happen in my own home, and does it leave me uneasy? It does.

We bought a video set some months ago and nicknamed it "Little Miss Cyclops" because of the single big eye in its forehead. At first my wife, Frances, despised it, and I had to restrain her from sweeping it out every morning. I suspect she was jealous of it.

But today? This blonde intruder with the plywood petticoat dominates my wife as completely as any older sister ever ruled a younger one.

When Frances wants to know anything, she no longer consults me. She asks Little Miss Cyclops. It is worse than having a bossy mother-in-law around the place.

"I NEVER DID CLAIM to know the answers to everything, but Little Miss Cyclops does—or pretends to. And so my husbandly authority is breaking down altogether.

Take politics. The last political remark I remember my wife making was in 1939, when she said:

"When this Hitler goes into a country, what does he do—take what he wants of it and let the rest of it go?"

Well, naturally, my friends and I treasured this utterance with considerable hilarity for many years.

But now? Frances listens to every panel program with beagle eagerness, and calls every presidential candidate by his first name. If I make any offhand observation on a current issue, she replies withe tingly.

"Why, Rover, that isn't what Estes said last Sunday. Neither did Bob the week before. You must be wrong. Don't you keep up with what is going on anymore?"

SHE HAS EVEN GONE into scientific research. She keeps five different kinds of cigarets handy, and smokes one out of each pack every day

"I am going to give them all a 30-day test, and make up my own mind which is the mildest," she says grimly.

But what worries me most is the fact she is getting to be a fan of the crime programs Little Miss Cyclops dishes up in those evening rogues' gallery menus. The other night Frances broke out in sudden jeering laughter When I lifted my eyebrows over the newspaper, she pointed at the TV screen and said:

"Look at the bum. He's holding his gat wrong. Ha, ha, ha"

Now, looky here, men. Do we want a machine in the home that teaches wives the proper way to hold pistols, commit arson, and poison a husband's bedtime milk?

Intuition never taught women these things. But television does. Man to man, is this education by electronics good for the ladies? The home was more peaceful when all they knew for sure was what they read in the cookbook.

In remote sections of Mindanao, the Philippines, where clocks and watches are unknown, a big-billed bird called "Kalaw," belonging to the eagle family, tells time, especially during the day. At 4 a.m. this big bird emits four resonant cries, which can be heard as far as two miles. At noon, he issues a long tone.

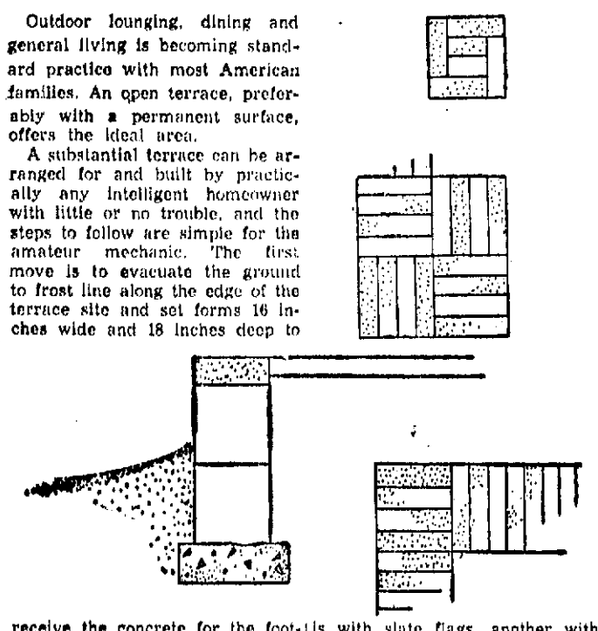
YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

By Douglas Tuomey

Surfacing an Open Terrace



Outdoor lounging, dining and general living is becoming standard practice with most American families. An open terrace, preferably with a permanent surface, offers the ideal area.

A substantial terrace can be arranged for and built by practically any intelligent homeowner with little or no trouble, and the steps to follow are simple for the amateur mechanic. The first move is to evacuate the ground to frost line along the edge of the terrace site and set forms 16 inches wide and 18 inches deep to receive the concrete for the footings.

The mix to be used should be one of cement, two of sand and three of gravel or crushed stone. After the concrete has set for three or four days, cement or cinder block is laid over it to the desired height for the terrace. Next, the area enclosed by the cement block wall is filled in with sand or soil, wetted down, well tamped and allowed to weather and settle for a week or two. After that time the terrace is ready to be paved or finished.

There are several satisfactory ways to surface a terrace. One is with slate flags, another with brick laid in cement mortar, another with a concrete slab and still another with brick laid dry in sand. It all depends upon how much money you can afford for the surface or the amount of trouble you care to go to. Irrespective of the type of surface used, a neat row of brick laid flat over the top of the cement block wall presents a good edging and is easy to keep in repair.

Where a brick surface is selected, there are any number of designs which can be used to secure an interesting and attractive surface. Squares, oblongs, herringbones and straight courses all are satisfactory, but in each case the bricks should be laid flat and spaced evenly for uniform appearance.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Disintegrating Brick

Q.: The brick towards the base of my house and inside the basement looks as though it is disintregrating. It crumbles when touched. Your suggestions would be appreciated.

A.: If all of the brick is above grade and is not in very bad condition, you should be able to stop further dinintegration by coating the exterior brick work with a dampproof cement paint or a transparent waterproofing, preferably the type containing silicones. Where crumbling occurs below the surface of the ground, it will be necessary to waterproof the outside of the foundation walls with liquid asphalt dampproofing or hot tar. Brick that has crumbled and deteriorated very badly should be replaced.

Finishing of Woodwork

Q. We would like to have suggestions about the finishing of doors, windows and baseboards. The windows have an initial coat of paint inside. Must we remove this or can stain be applied over it?

A. Most of the wood finishing at present is done in natural colors, that is, no stains are used. Usually, two coats of a top quality, quick drying varnish is sufficient. If a glossy finish is not desired, use a semi-gloss varnish. It will be necessary to remove the prime coat of paint that was applied on the windows. This I presume is a very thin coat and it should not be difficult to take it off by rubbing with sandpaper.

Cleaning of Bronze Screens

Q. Will you let me know if there is a leaflet on the cleaning of bronze window and door screens? I am wondering, if I wash them with water, will rusting occur?

A. Bronze metal does not rust. However, if there is an excessive amount of moisture for a long time, eventually the metal will acquire a dark color and then will turn green. To clean the screening, scrub with a scouring powder and rinse well with clear water. Screens that were on the kitchen windows get an extra scrubbing to be sure that all traces of grease have been removed. After wiping the screen cloth dry, store in a dry place and cover with paper to keep off the dust. If the screens are more than two years old, it would be wise to give them a coat of top quality spar varnish, thinned with a half and half mixture of linseed oil and turpentine. Be sure all the edges of the frame holding the screening is well coated. This is done to prevent possible oxidation of the metal.

Yellowed Metal Cabinets

Q. Have metal cabinets over the stove and they have acquired a yellow color. What can I use to get them white,

A. The discoloration is evidently caused by the heat from the stove and cannot be removed. Refinishing is advisable. To prevent further discoloration, install a hood under the cabinets, placing a half-inch thickness of insulating material between the hood and the bottom of the cabinet.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A SMALL HOUSE that looks big, both front and rear, this plan incorporates several modern ideas. The shed type roof provides for clerestory windows giving the living room maximum ventilation. These windows are shown under the roof on the rear garden side. Large picture windows on both front and rear and high windows for privacy in bedrooms are among other details. This is Plan H-162-P by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. It covers 1,027 square feet.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

(Second in a Series on Finishing Attics)

FROM CELLAR to attics is a far cry when it comes to a finishing job. Good paint may cover a multitude of sins downstairs, if properly applied, but when you get up under the rafters of an unfinished attic you have to provide something to put the paint on.

This is where wallboard comes in. It's economical, easy to install and takes virtually any kind of decoration.

Since no wet plaster is involved, this type of construction is called "dry wall."

There are four major types of dry wall material: plywood, fiberboard, hardboard and plasterboard. All are available in large sheets, which makes the enclosing of extra rooms in an attic fast work as soon as framing is in place and suitable insulation installed.

PLYWOOD can be obtained plain or finished. You can get it with beautiful finishes in hardwood veneer—actual sheets of walnut, mahogany and other rare woods permanently bonded to the surface as it is on fine furniture. This can be used for paneling rooms—a library, or den — with luxurious effects.

Ordinary fir plywood provides a truly flat surface for painting and is especially valuable as a flooring under asphalt tile, rubber, vinyl or cork tile. No loose or uneven board are going to cause "seams" to wear in such floors.

The various fiberboards, consisting of vegetable fibers compressed into solid sheets, are popular wall coverers because of their relative cheapness. They are sound and real insulators to a good degree; they're light weight and can be decorated or left natural.

Hardboard is an interesting material. It's made out of wood fibers pressed into hard sheets without grain that can be sawed, nailed, glued or screwed. You can get this plain or decorated, including pastic facings for kitchen paneling, or in an embossed finish form like leather.

—:—

PLASTERBOARD, which includes the widely used gypsum wallboards, is virtually prefabricated plaster. It provides a wall with a good fire rating and suitable for painting or papering. Some plasterboard can be had with a wallpaper facing already applied in wood grain or floral patterns. Or you can get it with a reflective insulating foil backing.

Gypsum wallboard is more easily scored along a dimension line and then snapped off than it is sawed. This method of cutting to fit saves much time. When the board is snapped the surface paper on the underside is cut at the crease and the broken core is sanded smooth.

In handling plasterboard, care should be taken to avoid breaking or damaging the paper surface on the finish side. Face the finish side up when cutting and use care when driving and dimpling nails so as not to break the paper.

Four-penny finishing nails are used in applying these panels. Space the nails 4 inches along panel ends; 6 inches along intermediate studs.

Because of the spreading use of gypsum wallboard and the similarity in handling joints in all wall paneling, the technique of concealing joints is worth some attention. A careful job can result in complete obliteration of all joints, whether painted over or wallpapered.

THE FIRST STEP is to spread a special adhesive into the channel between panels with a broad putty knife, covering the channel to a depth of about a 16th of an inch. Perforated reinforcing tape is then embedded in this cement the full length of the joint and pressed firm under moderate pressure. Excess cement on each side of the tape is then wiped clean with the broad knife.

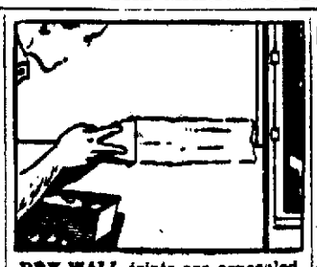
The embedded tape should be allowed to dry for about 24 hours. A second coat of adhesive is then applied to a width about twice that of the knife. Edges are feathered, the surface is smoothed as much as possible without leaving knife marks and this is dried for another 24 hours. Then a very thin third coat is spread 2 to 4 inches wider than the second coat. When dried this is sanded very lightly with very fine sandpaper.

All nailhead dimples are spackled with the same special cement, available from dealers in gypsum board, and they are sanded smooth.

Corners are taped and cemented in the same manner as flat surface joints, with the tape folded lengthwise.

The more care used, the better decorating surface results.

(NEXT: Laying Attic Floors)



DRY WALL joints are concealed with special cement spread into the channel between joints with a putty knife.

PERFORATED TAPE is embedded into the adhesive and the patch is lightly scraped clean with the broad knife.

DRIED 24 HOURS, the tape is then covered with a second coat of cement and smoothed.

AFTER ANOTHER 24-hour drying period, a third coat of adhesive is applied thin and sanded when dry.

Yankee outfielder Hank Bauer, a hero in the final 1951 World Series game, hit his last home run of 1951 in Shibe Park and his first home of the 1952 campaign in the same ball park.

NAILHEAD DIMPLES are spackled with the same cement and sanded smooth.

INSIDE CORNERS are taped and cemented in similar manner. Tape is folded.

OUTSIDE CORNERS are taped with tape folded legnthwise to fit over corner.

Galion Rotary Hears Tax Expert Speak

Special To The Star

GALION—George D. Brabson of Findlay, tax attorney for the Ohio Oil Company spoke on "Good Laws, Bad Officials," when he was guest speaker Wednesday for a joint meeting of Rotary clubs of Galion and Bucyrus and "Rotaryanns."

There were 140 present for the affair which was held at the Greenlawn, near Galion with the Galion club as host. George M. Hinesman was chairman of arrangements.

M. E. Shank, president of the Galion, club, introduced M. E. Schieber, Bucyrus president, who in turn presented the in-coming vice president of Bucyrus Rotary, R. Koons. The Galion president also introduced Galion officers for next year: Philip Hesby, president; Rev. Paul Walter, vice president; and George W. Coble, secretary-treasurer.

Accordion music during the dinner was played by Keith Messmore and Carol Plossner of Galion. The speaker was introduced by Rev. Walter.

"SKYWATCH" CALLED OFF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today postponed plans for the civilian Ground Observer Corps to maintain an around-the-clock watch on the skies for unidentified planes. Operation "skywatch" was originally scheduled to start Saturday and continue for an indefinite perod. It was postponed because of opposition by the defense directors in many of the 27 states involved.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Twenty-One Years Later

"SATIRE." George S. Kaufman wishes he hadn't once remarked, "Is what closes Saturday night." This is an embarrassing statement to be credited with if you are—as Mr. K. is—the co-author of the celebrated political lampoon "Of Thee I Sing" which has just reopened on Broadway.

Just the same Mr. Kaufman may be right. The actual satiric content of "Of Thee I Sing" is low, very low. "Of Thee I Sing" might more properly be called musical farce cleverly concealed as satire. It's rather interesting to compare the current revival with the original 21 years ago. Mr. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind, who wrote the book and George and Ira Gershwin, who wrote the music and lyrics, all treated politics with a species of light-hearted contempt which has fallen out of fashion. It's not that politics has grown in public esteem; it's just that it isn't funny any more. Or, just possibly, we the people have lost our sense of humor about it.

THIS ESSENTIAL change in the political atmosphere is reflected clearly in the difference between the 21-year-old jokes which had to come out and the new jokes which supplanted them. In the original, for instance, there was a good-natured gag about playing medicine ball on the White House lawn, a reference to Mr. Hoover's strange choice of pastimes. In the present version, there is a sight gag of a woman in a mink coat pushing a vacuum cleaner through the White House. It wasn't at all funny simply because the connotations behind that mink coat are pretty grim.

1931—when "Of Thee I Sing" was first produced—was a depression year of the worst order. Still we could laugh at it. I recall the punch line on one very funny scene between President Wintergreen and Vice President Throttlebottom whom Wintergreen is advising about the Presidency.

"You've got to be careful about speeches," advises Wintergreen. "You only make a speech when you want the stock market to go down."

"What do you do when you want the stock market to go up," inquires Throttlebottom.

"Oh, don't I wish I knew!" cried Wintergreen.

In 1952, the gag revolved around "letters I wish I hadn't written." The first is good-natured, the second is somehow ill-tempered like the Truman letters it refers to—a clear example of the change in the emotional climate of our attitudes.

JUST THE SAME, "Of Thee I Sing" has its points. It has an infectious gayety, a quality of sheer manic exuberance which has been missing in our musicals since Rodgers and Hammerstein started looking down their noses at jokes, started making serious works of art out of them. The perfect Throttlebottom will always be Victor Moore. Failing him, though, Paul Hartman, a man with an extraordinarily disreputable face, is probably the best man for the job. On the whole I think Jack Carson is a substantial improvement over the original Wintergreen, Billy Gaxton.

All of which leads me by a vast process of indirection to the fact that the air is blue with politics these days. Last week, "Life" magazine which got rather frozen out of the convention sweep-stakes when NBC and CBS sold sponsorship to appliance firms, took over "We, The People" as an outlet for political coverage. It is a rather odd marriage. "We, The People" is generally a light-hearted operation dedicated to introducing us to say, a recently mauled lion tamer. "Life," on the other hand, is intent on the more serious things and gravely concerned with educating us about politics.

TAFT SAYS HE'D APPOINT A WOMAN. Apparently that big smile on the face of Republican presidential candidate Sen. Robert A. Taft is for applause from women supporters over his declaration that he would appoint a woman to the U. S. Supreme Court if he thought her qualified. He said some women judges would be an improvement over some present justices. The scene is a press conference in Washington. Beside Taft is Mrs. Preston Davie, New York, assistant treasurer of the Taft committee and director of women's finance division for Taft campaign.

Third More Beef Seen In Three Years

Agriculture Dept. Predicts We'll Eat 81 Pounds in 1955

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If all goes well, Americans will have nearly a third more beef by 1955.

Consumers ate an average of 62.7 pounds of beef and veal last year. The Agriculture Department says that in three years the average should be around 81 pounds.

The department explains that cattle production has for years moved up and down in what it calls "cattle cycles." The nation is now in the midst of a cycle upswing.

These cycles are influenced by such things as prices, supplies of livestock feed, condition of pastures and consumer demand.

There have been three such cycles during the past 25 years. The first began in 1927, with cattle numbers starting an upswing under influence of a general improvement in economic conditions. It reached a peak in 1934. Low farm prices and a drought which ruined many pastures brought an end to the expansion.

New Swing in 1938

After dropping off, cattle numbers started a new upswing in 1938. Improved farm prices coupled with an increase in feed supplies, encouraged a new expansion. It was spurred to a record height by World War II. The downswing in this cycle started in 1945. Tight feed supplies plus farmer complaints over price controls were given as factors.

Then came the war in Korea. Demand for meat increased. So did prices. A new cattle cycle was started. Farmers began increasing their herds again.

The department says that if the present cycle follows the pattern of past cycles it will reach its peak in 1955 with a record number of beef cattle on farms and a record number sent to market for slaughter.

The 1927-'34 cycle started with 57 million head, increased to 85 57 million head of cattle, climbed to 74, then dropped back to 65.

The 1938-'45 cycle started with 65 million head, increased to 85 but declined to 76 in 1849.

The present cycle started 76 million and reached 88 the first of this year. The department says the number is expected to reach 92 million next year, 97 in 1954 and 100 in 1955 unless there are unforeseen developments.

Because a cow's digestive process must include the activity of bacteria which produce gas, bloat can result if the animal gorges on young legumes without sufficient roughage to stimulate belching.

BACK ON THE BOARDS. Helen Gahagan Douglas, who made quite a splash in Washington as a congresswoman, will be back in the capital May 19, this time professionally. She's shown rehearsing in New York with Guy Spaull for play, "First Lady," scheduled for a Washington opening and later for Broadway. It's Mrs Douglas' "comeback."

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Underwood at long last recognized the truth of what I had told him about Lillian's obsession concerning the marriage of her idolized daughter. Marion Morton, to her fiance, Ronald Brixton. I saw that in his somber, set face, and in the almost despairing but determined, expression in his eyes as they met mine.

"I ask your forgiveness for doubting you, Lady Fair," he said at last, using again the name he flamboyantly had given me in the stormy first year of my marriage and of our acquaintance—a name to which he stubbornly has adhered through the years, "And I want to make one point clear. I cast no aspersions—" his lips twisted into a wry grin—"on your veracity, or your good intentions. I did doubt your judgment, but you have convinced me, against my will, that Lillian has a blind spot in her mental processes which must be cleared up, or cut out."

The sigh which followed his word was gusty, almost hopeless.

"How I'm going to succeed in straightening her out when you, Dicky and your father have failed, I can't imagine," he said slowly, and I interrupted him summarily.

"Because," I told him with emphasis, "while she loves us all, and knows we are devoted to her interests, you are the one person in the world upon whom she leans for support, and to whom she looks for guidance. She idolizes both you and Marion, but she does not expect any support or wise counsel from her. You are her rock and her salvation, and I am certain that she will accept your final judgment, and abide by it."

"That is blessed to hear," he said huskily, "but I am not sure I ought to believe it. There were many years when—"

"Stop right there!" I commanded. "The past is dead long since—and buried. And, I know Lillian, and what I am telling you about her. You will have to handle her as if she were a fragile piece of china, but eventually she will accept everything you tell her, and act accordingly."

"Leave us hope," he gibed with another wry smile. "When ought I to begin the job?"

"Not at your first meeting," I told him decidedly. "Devote that to the joy of reunion, and the assurance that until Terry McGovern is out of the hospital, You'll be able to see her quite frequently. Then, after that, you can begin—"

"The dirty work," he interpolated grimly.

"If you want to call it that," I retorted. "But I would term it clean and antiseptic surgery."

"I suppose you're right," he agreed. "But, look here, Lady Fair, the problem isn't going to be completely solved with the elimination of Lillian's blind spot. Ronald and Marion have to be assured a decent living, without Marion's slaving herself to death to support them. Sam Brixton will come across, even against Helena's objections—she's too clever, anyway, to oppose him openly—and Lil and I will do all we can, but—we're not wealthy—it all seems hopeless."

"It's not hopeless at all," I said firmly.

"What do you mean?" he asked in startled tones, and I wondered, a bit terrified, about his reaction to my bringing up of a long-buried bone of contention in his closely-knit life with Lillian.

122 Pints Of Blood Given At Depot

Dr. Crawford Pope of the depot staff, was in charge and assisting registered nurses were Mrs. Clara Haley, Miss Esther Mautz and Mrs. Catherine Kelly.

Mrs. J. W. Bull, assisted as a nurse's aide; Mrs. Frank M. Knapp, Mrs. Bernard Moloney, motor corps; Mrs. John J. Dugan, Mrs. Wayne Brown, Mrs. J. C. Porter, Mrs. David Rizor, staff aides; Mrs. A. Schoen, Mrs. Allen Morton, Gray Ladies; Mrs. Homes R. Waddell, Mrs. Harold Meister, Mrs. W. D. Scranton, Mrs. O. P. Miller, Mrs. L. D. Pollock, Mrs. E. H. Burnap, Mrs. Lloyd Williams, Mrs. John Turner, Mrs. William McGhee, Mrs. A. B. Augenstein, Mrs. H. E. Bennett, Mrs. C. W. Smoot, canteen.

Mrs. Gladys Arter, vice chairman of volunteer services was in charge of the volunteer work.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile will be June 25, at the recreation room of the First Presbyterian Church, and June 26 at the Pollak Steel Co. plant.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

"Red Mountain" Now Playing at Palace

"Red Mountain," technicolor adventure film which currently is playing through Tuesday at the Palace Theater, deals with the notorious exploits of the renegade Confederate General Quantrell and the steely nerved cavalry captain who halted his personal conquest of the West. The stars are Alan Ladd, Lizabeth Scott, Arthur Kennedy and John Ireland.

The picture tells of a band of Confederate guerrillas in the closing days of the Civil War as Quantrell leads them on an expedition of plunder through the Colorado Territory.

Showing in a midnight show tonight only will be a double feature, "I Married A Savage" and "Gods of Bali."

Wednesday only, another in the "Curtain Time 8:15" series will be shown. It will be "The Browning Version" with Jean Kent and Nigel Patrick.

Adapted for the screen by Terence Rattigan from his own successful play, "The Browning Version" is an intimate study of a teacher who, after 20 years at an exclusive boys school, comes face to face with the realization that his life is a failure and that his students despise him. He also believes his wife is unfaithful to him and his fellow teachers ridicule him.

Showing Thursday through Saturday will be a double feature, "The Sniper," suspense thriller starring Adolphe Menjou and Arthur Franz, and "A Yank in Indo-China" with John Archer and Douglas Dick.

The former film tells the story of a young criminal who shoots and kills six women on the streets of San Francisco. The latter picture relates the story of a small group of Americans caught between the French and guerrilla forces fighting in the jungles of Indo-China.

Abbott and Costello In Films at Marion

Two Bud Abbott and Lou Costello comedies, "Little Giant" and "The Time of Their Lives," will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Pandora and the Flying Dutchman" starring James Mason and Ava Gardner, and "Shadow In the Sky" with Ralph Meeker, Nancy Davis, James Whitmore and Jean Hagen.

Thursday through Saturday, the attractions will be "Chicago Calling" and "Utah Wagon Train." The former co-stars Dan Duryea and Mary Anderson, and heading the cast in the latter are Rex Allen and Penny Edwards.

ALAN LADD, CENTER, and John Ireland, right, with an assist from some ruthless redskins, are about to launch an ambush in the above scene from the technicolor film, "Red Mountain," which currently is playing through Tuesday at the Palace Theater. Lizabeth Scott and Arthur Kennedy also star.

Showing next Sunday through Tuesday will be the Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis comedy, "Sailor Beware" and "Sky High" with Sid Melton and Mara Lynn.

—:—

"Deadline—U.S.A." Opens at New Ohio

Opening in a midnight show tonight at the New Ohio Theater and playing through Wednesday will be "Deadline—U.S.A.," starring Humphrey Bogart, Ethel Barrymore and Kim Hunter.

With Bogart as a crusading newspaper editor, "Deadline—U.S.A." exposes big city corruption down to the roots. It deals with his efforts to break the hold of a rackets boss on city administration.

Ethel Barrymore is seen as the reliant publisher of the newspaper Bogart edits, while Kim Hunter portrays the wife who sees her loyalty in a new light as a result of Bogart's efforts.

Billed for Thursday through Saturday is a double feature, "Outcast of Poker Flats" and "Waco" with Wild Bill Elliott.

"Red Ball Express" At Drive-In Wednesday

"Dallas," technicolor drama starring Gary Cooper, Ruth Roman and Steve Cochran, will be the attraction showing Sunday through Tuesday at the North Drive-In Theater.

Gary Cooper is seen in the role of a guerilla chieftian who came out of the Civil War seeking revenge on three outlaw brothers who plundered his land during the battle.

Another first run attraction has been billed for Wednesday through Saturday. It is "Red Ball Express," a gripping story of a hastily organized World War II unit of the Army Transportation Corps which rushed supplies and badly-needed ammunition to Gen. Patton's army during a front line breakthrough. Starred are Jeff Chandler, Alex Nicol, Judith Braun and Charles Drake.

James Stewart Stars In Movie at State

"Bend of the River," technicolor film starring James Stewart and Arthur Kennedy, and "Johnny One Eye," with Wayne Morris and Pat O'Brien, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Home Town Story" and "Covered Wagon Days." The former stars Donald Crisp and Jeffrey Lynn, while the latter features the Three Mesquiteers.

Betty Grable and Victor Mature are the stars of the film, "Wabash Avenue," which will be the main attraction of the double feature playing Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "Dalton's Women" starring Lash LaRue and Pamela Drake.

Third More Beef Seen In Three Years

Agriculture Dept. Predicts We'll Eat 81 Pounds in 1955

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If all goes well, Americans will have nearly a third more beef by 1955.

Consumers ate an average of 62 7 pounds of beef and veal last year. The Agriculture Department says that in three years the average should be around 81 pounds.

The department explains that cattle production has for years moved up and down in what it calls "cattle cycles." The nation is now in the midst of a cycle upswing.

These cycles are influenced by such things as prices, supplies of livestock feed, condition of pastures and consumer demand.

There have been three such cycles during the past 25 years. The first began in 1927, with cattle numbers starting an upswing under influence of a general improvement in economic conditions. It reached a peak in 1934. Low farm prices and a drought which ruined many pastures brought an end to the expansion.

New Swing in 1938

After dropping off, cattle numbers started a new upswing in 1938. Improved farm prices coupled with an increase in feed supplies, encouraged a new expansion. It was spurred to a record height by World War II. The downswing in this cycle started in 1945. Tight feed supplies plus farmer complaints over price controls were given as factors.

Then came the war in Korea. Demand for meat increased. So did prices. A new cattle cycle was started. Farmers began increasing their herds again.

The department says that if the present cycle follows the pattern of past cycles it will reach its peak in 1955 with a record number of beef cattle on farms and a record number sent to market for slaughter.

The 1927-'34 cycle started with 57 million head, increased to 85 57 million head of cattle, climbed to 74, then dropped back to 65.

The 1938-'45 cycle started with 65 million head, increased to 85 but declined to 76 in 1849.

The present cycle started 76 million and reached 88 the first of this year. The department says the number is expected to reach 92 million next year, 97 in 1954 and 100 in 1955 unless there are unforeseen developments

Because a cow's digestive process must include the activity of bacteria which produce gas, bloat can result if the animal gorges on young legumes without sufficient roughage to stimulate belching.

BACK ON THE BOARDS. Helen Gahagan Douglas, who made quite a splash in Washington as a congresswoman, will be back in the capital May 19, this time professionally. She's shown rehearsing in New York with Guy Spaull for play, "First Lady," scheduled for a Washington opening and later for Broadway. It's Mrs Douglas' "comeback."

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Underwood at long last recognized the truth of what I had told him about Lillian's obsession concerning the marriage of her idolized daughter. Marion Morton, to her fiance. Ronald Brixton. I saw that in his somber, set face, and in the almost despairing but determined, expression in his eyes as they met mine.

"I ask your forgiveness for doubting you, Lady Fair," he said at last, using again the name he flamboyantly had given me in the stormy first year of my marriage and of our acquaintance—a name to which he stubbornly has adhered through the years. "And I want to make one point clear. I cast no aspersions—" his lips twisted into a wry grin—"on your veracity, or your good intentions. I did doubt your judgment, but you have convinced me, against my will, that Lillian has a blind spot in her mental processes which must be cleared up, or cut out."

The sigh which followed his word was gusty, almost hopeless.

"How I'm going to succeed in straightening her out when you, Dicky and your father have failed, I can't imagine," he said slowly, and I interrupted him summarily.

"Because," I told him with emphasis, "while she loves us all, and knows we are devoted to her interests, you are the one person in the world upon whom she leans for support, and to whom she looks for guidance. She idolizes both you and Marion, but she does not expect any support or wise counsel from her. You are her rock and her salvation, and I am certain that she will accept your final judgment, and abide by it."

"That is blessed to hear," he said huskily, "but I am not sure I ought to believe it. There were many years when—"

"Stop right there!" I commanded. "The past is dead long since—and buried. And, I know Lillian, and what I am telling you about her. You will have to handle her as if she were a fragile piece of china, but eventually she will accept everything you tell her, and act accordingly."

"Leave us hope," he gibed with another wry smile. "When ought I to begin the job?"

"Not at your first meeting," I told him decidedly. "Devote that to the joy of reunion, and the assurance that until Terry McGovern is out of the hospital, You'll be able to see her quite frequently. Then, after that, you can begin—"

"The dirty work," he interpolated grimly.

"If you want to call it that," I retorted. "But I would term it clean and antiseptic surgery."

"I suppose you're right," he agreed. "But, look here, Lady Fair, the problem isn't going to be completely solved with the elimination of Lillian's blind spot. Ronald and Marion have to be assured a decent living, without Marion's slaving herself to death to support them. Sam Brixton will come across, even against Helena's objections—she's too clever, anyway, to oppose him openly—and Lil and I will do all we can, but—we're not wealthy—it all seems hopeless."

"It's not hopeless at all," I said firmly.

"What do you mean?" he asked in startled tones, and I wondered, a bit terrified, about his reaction to my bringing up of a long-buried bone of contention in his closely-knit life with Lillian.

Yank Castoffs Hand Tribe 2-0 Loss; Dodgers Tie for First

Jensen, Shea Lead Nats To Win; Giants Lose 2

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees seldom make a poor trade but at the moment it appears they pulled a whopper in dispatching Frank Shea, Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson to Washington for Irv Noren.

Yank Manager Casey Stengel was reluctant to part with the trio but claimed he was forced to gamble. Stengel's fears have been realized and if Noren doesn't pick up the sage of Yankee Stadium will have nightmares.

Shea, Jensen and Wilson have given the Senators a brighter outlook on life while Noren has yet to catch fire.

Jensen and Shea teamed up Friday night to lead the Senators to a 2-0 triumph over the league-leading Cleveland Indians. The victory moved Washington to within 1½ games of the Tribe.

Since the trade on May 3 the Senators have won nine games and lost three to rise from the second division to second place while the Yanks have won seven and dropped four.

Wins Third

Shea, who failed to appear in a single game for the Yanks, has now three straight starts during which he has allowed only two runs. Jensen, who collected only two hits in 19 trips for New York, has banged out 17 hits in 51 times at bat for Washington, a .333 gait. Wilson, who got one hit in two trys for the Yanks, has smashed out 12 hits in 38 chances for a .316 mark and driven in nine runs. Noren has collected only 12 hits in 48 attempts for the Yanks, a .250 average.

Shea blew down the Indians on two hits and fanned nine in outpitching Early Wynn. Jensen drove in both runs with a sixth-inning single.

Ray Boone singled with two out in the fifth for Cleveland's first hit and Al Rosen singled with two gone in the sixth for the Indians' final blow.

Shea launched the Senators' winning rally with a single in the sixth. Ed Yost followed with a double and Jensen cashed them both in with his clutch single.

Rosen Paces Yanks

Noren played his best game since joining Yankees, driving in two runs as the Bombers edged the Tigers, 3-2, in Detroit. Noren socked his first homer in the seventh and singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth. Noren, obtained for the expressed purpose of playing center field, was employed at first due to injuries to Firstbaseman Johnny Mize, Joe Collins and Johnny Hopp. Rookie Bob Cerv patrolled the middle pasture.

Earl Harrist and Satchel Paige combined to pitch the St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 two-hit ten-inning victory over Boston in a night game at St. Louis. The Browns collected only four hits off Mickey McDermott and Ellis Kinder, but three of the blows were by Bob Nieman who drove in both runs. Nieman homered in the eighth and doubled with two on in the tenth to win the game.

Brooks Beat Bucs

The Brooklyn Dodgers tied the New York Giants for first place in the National League, beating Pittsburgh, 6-4, while the Giants dropped a doubleheader to the upstart Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 6-5.

Clem Labine pitched seven innings of scoreless relief ball to pick up his first victory for Brooklyn. The Pirates played without Ralph Kiner who was out of the lineup with a pulled back muscle.

Bob Rush brushed the Giants back with five hits in the opener to end a five game New York winning streak. Johnny Klippstein, who hurled only one complete game last year, yielded six hits, including homers by Hank Thompson and Bobby Thomson, in going the distance in the nightcap.

In night games, the Boston Braves trampled the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3, and the Philadelphia Phils edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in ten innings.

Reds Near .500 Mark After Loss to Phils

Cincy Drops Fourth In Row, 3-2, In 10-Inning Battle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The .500 percentage mark and the second division are beginning to close in on the Cincinnati Reds.

The Redlegs' own generosity finally caught up with them Friday night and they dropped a 3 to 2 decision to Philadelphia in 10 innings for their fourth straight loss on the swing through the east. As a result, they're only one game ahead of the fifth-place Phils and another defeat today would deadlock the two clubs for fourth and fifth.

Bud Byerly got his first starting assignment in two years in Friday night's game and did a pretty fair job of flinging. He allowed only five hits in seven innings and might have gotten home with a 2 to 1 victory with good support.

The Phils' second run was set up in the seventh when Homer Howell threw the ball into center field trying to catch Jack Mayo on a theft of second. Mayo went on to third and romped home on Bill Nicholson's long fly.

The loser was Herman Wehmeier and he and Ted Kluszewski were very helpful to the Phils in the fatal tenth.

In that frame, Wehmeier made the fatal mistake of walking the first man up—Eddie Waitkus. Relief Hurler Ken Heintzelman laid down a bunt and all hands were safe when Kluszewski threw wide at second trying to get Waitkus.

Richie Ashburn laid down a bunt. The Reds let it roll and it stayed fair down the third-base line on what Manager Luke Sewell called "Ashburn's Ridge."

That filled the bases and Granny Hamner's sharp single brought in the winning run.

Joe Adcock's single and Wally Westlake's single produced Cincinnati's first run and a pair of walks followed by Bobby Adams' single brought in the other.

Harding Rated Threat in District Track Meet

Prexy Thinclads Shoot For First Crown In Meet at Delaware

By JOHN SHORT

Harding High School's track team, already with a third straight undefeated season under its belt, travels to Delaware today for a crack at further laurels which thus far have escaped several top-flight Prexy teams.

Coach Ken Somerlot was set to transport 25 thinclads to Selby Field at Ohio Wesleyan University for the annual Central District Class A track meet. Only squad comparing with the local group will be defending champion, Columbus Central.

Also being run in the District Class B meet, the Monarch from Marysville, last year's champions, will be sending 12 men into action. Their stiffest competition will come from University High School at Columbus with 15 entries and Worthington with 16. Richwood has entered a total of 13 boys while Em Valley also will send 13.

Marion County schools taking part in the meet include Claridon with three entries, Morral with nine and Pleasant with six.

Preliminary heats in both Class A and B field events were set for 9:30 this morning while finals were to begin at 1. The running program was to get under way late this afternoon.

Top Team

Coach Somerlot will take what he considers one of his top teams into the tourney. The Prexies probably will go into the meet third-rated behind Central and Columbus North. However, Somerlot has refused to accept this rating and is expecting his crew to walk off with laurels.

The Central Pirates will be seeking their sixth straight district title. Last year's win marked the 16th outright crown won by the Columbus crew since the tourney opened in 1926. They also tied for the crown once. The Pirate sprint and field men rolled up a 66 point total last year.

Third row, Harold Alexander, Bill Perry, Dick Burtch, Gene Gamble, Bill Whittington, Joe Buettin, Bob Whittington, Jack Boxwell, Dan Artz, manager, Bill McCrery, manager, and Marvin McFann. Fourth row, Joel Williams, Alan Green, Gene Daniels, Jim Popoff, Don DeLauder, Jim McEntire, John Gantt, Hugh Kinnamon and Jim Whaley.

At least three Harding entries are among the top favorites to cop district honors. John Ashworth, Prexy miler, is expected to finish among the leaders in the mile run and Jim Russell is rated as a top threat in the shotput. Paul Geissler is one of the fastest sprint men entered in the dash events.

Somerlot has pinned most of his hopes on these three. Ashworth this season has set a new Harding Stadium mark for the mile in 4:39.8. However, his best time was posted away from home when he completed the run in 4:38.5. He also has turned in blistering times in the 880-yard run with a flat 2:01 at home and a 2:03.8 on the road. He holds the record for the state cross-country course at Columbus with a 10:26 for the two-mile grind and for the Beacon Light Course at Columbus with a 10:32.2. Ted Price gave Harding another threat in the mile event. His best time this season has been 4:44.

Harding Hope

Geissler will probably be the object of most eyes in the dash events. The Prexy flash has turned in a flat 10 seconds in the 100-yard dash this season. He turned in that mark in the Buckeye League meet and to prove it was no fluke, repeated a week later. He also has turned in a 21.8 in the 220, hitting that mark twice away from home. His best at-home time was a flat 22 seconds. He has completed the 180-yard run over the low hurdles in 20.1. Geissler also is entered in the high jump and has cleared 5-9 in that event.

Russell is looking for a good toss in the shot event to better his high season mark. He has averaged around the 45-46 foot mark all year and could easily better that distance.

Harding's mile relay team, composed of Dick Tway, Tom Morton, Glenn Craft and Ted Price, also will be going today. The team's best mark of the season has been 3:40. The 880 relay crew, made up of Jack Garver, Dick Burtch, Frank Green and Bill Parry, will be shooting to better its 1:37.2 mark.

Marysville won the Class B title last year with a total of 53½ points. It marked the first crown for the Monarchs However, the Marysville runners will be second-rated this year since Worthington has returned to the Class B ranks after a year of action against Class A schools.

The athletes will be shooting for a spot in the state meet at Columbus. Qualifiers for the state meet will be selected from the district events.

Rickey Gives Talk At Ohio Wesleyan

DELAWARE, O. (AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team, turned philosopher and psychologist Friday in a talk to Ohio Wesleyan University students.

Rickey, a university trustee, said the batter who violates good form may become good, or even great. He said:

"I believe you shouldn't instruct a player about a faulty batting technique until he gives up on his own style, otherwise he will resent it. Wait until he asks for instructions."

Rickey said a player of high ability who doesn't use all of it is less valuable than one with less ability who plays over his head.

Redleg Pilot Charges Phils Bank Base Line

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Baseball has had "Greenberg Gardens" and "Kiner's Kitchen." Now it has "Ashburn's Alley." At least that's what Manager Luke Sewell of the Cincinnati Reds had to say Friday night after a Richie Ashburn bunt helped beat his club in the 10th inning.

Sewell claims the third-base line at Shibe Park is banked a little so that Ashburn, the fleet Philadelphia bunting expert, can lay down his bunt and hustle to first base while the opposition waits for the ball to roll foul. Only the ball doesn't roll foul, says Sewell.

"I can take you out on the field and show you that alley," said Sewell in the clubhouse after the game.

Sewell didn't say the Phillies' management had some one work on the third-base line every day keeping it manicured for the Ashburn bunts. But he said no one was hurrying out to correct the situation. "I really don't think it's legal," said the Cincinnati pilot, but he wouldn't say if he intended to do anything about it.

Akron Keglers Move Among Leaders In ABC

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A long drought among regular teams in the American Bowling Congress tournament ended Friday night when the Amster Kirtz Co. quintet of Akron, hopped into eighth place. It was the first change in the top 10 regular team leaders since May 1.

The Kirtz team started with a 1,027 game, followed with 957 and ended with 1,009 for a total of 2993. Edward Johnson set the pace with 660 on counts of 190, 235 and 235. Then came Lewis Gilmore with 210, 233 and 168 for 611. Dale Heysen had 608, Louis Yovanovich 596 and Joe Magyaric 518.

BOWLING RESULTS

George Black posted a 191-519 to top keglers in the Mercantile League at the Marion Recreation Center Wednesday. Jay Cornely with a 220 and Chuck Burns with a 567 were high in the Automotive Loop while Ed Thibault's 243-621 was high in the Craftsman League. That loop finished in a tie for first between Pop and Jerry's and Daggett's Chocolate and a roll-off will be held tonight. Schultz with a 212-565 topped the McMillen League at the Palace alleys. The Solvent team clinched first place laurels in that league with a week to go.

PREAKNESS CHOICES

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two high-strung youngsters are expected today to wage a repitition of the battle their fathers put on in the Preakness nine years ago at Pimlico. After the starting bell clangs at 4:17 p.m. to spring ten 3-year-old thoroughbreds, the dope is for Sub Fleet and Blue Man to settle the issue.

Membership Mark Set By Legion Post

615 Now Belong To Bird-McGinnis, Chairman Reports

An all-time high in membership was reported at Tuesday night's meeting of Bird-McGinnis Post 182, American Legion, held in the Dugout.

Dr. George W. Pfleiderer, first vice commander in charge of membership, closed the membership drive with the announcement that the club now has 615 members, compared with 411 last year.

A class of 13 candidates was initiated by C. M. Rogers, past commander, and the degree team. The class is called the Victor Wick Class in honor of Victor Wick of Waldo, former Sixth District commander and now membership chairman for Ohio.

The post voted to accept the invitation of the Oakland EUB Church to attend special memorial services there May 25.

Melvin Falor, sophomore at Harding High School, was selected to represent the post at Buckeye Boys' State at Camp Perry, June 6 to 15, it was announced by J. W. Llewellyn, Boys' State chairman.

Dr. Gerald Strauss, president of the drum corps, reported that the 36-piece corps will make its first public appearance on Memorial Day.

First nomination of officers was held. The second nomination and election will be held at the next regular meeting, May 27.

Little League Team Sets Practice Monday

Joe Moloney, manager of the Vance Sporting Goods team in the Little National League, today issued a call for all his team to report for practice.

Several of the team members missed practice this week and Moloney is anxious to have the entire group together for the sessions. He asked the boys to report every Monday and Wednesday at 5 p.m. to the St. Mary athletic field at Farming St. and Ballentine Ave.

RED CROSS RADIO PROGRAM

Jeffery Silver is featured in this week's Errand of Mercy" play entitled, "A Fisherman and the Truth." It will be heard at 10 p.m. Sunday over station WMRN. Fishermen, in general, do not have the reputation of telling the truth and sometimes they find it very difficult to be believed even when they try. Young Michael discovered that much to his sorrow. The fish got away and Michael has a wrist watch to prove it. But even with proof, he cannot convince his grandfather. Michael saved two lives that same day — fishermen who couldn't swim. His grandfather does not question that. Michael brought them back with him.

Graham, Castellani Battle to Draw

NEW YORK (AP)—Except for a few slashes around the eyes, nobody got hurt.

That's the story of Friday night's Madison Square Garden bristling 10-round draw between Rocky Costellani of Luzerne, Pa., and Irish Billy Graham of New York's east side.

Graham came out with two cut eyes and Castellani had a mark over his left eye. But their reputations remained undamaged.

Red Birds Belt League Leaders

By The Associated Press

Kansas City's Blues, virtually in an American Association first-place tie with Milwaukee, should give Charlie Kress of Columbus a vote of thanks for being a thorn in the Brewer's side.

While the Blues were rained out Friday night, Red Bird first-sacker Kress, for the second straight night, provided homer punch in a Columbus win over the Brews. Kansas City was scheduled against Toledo.

Kress, who slammed two homers to beat Milwaukee Thursday night, belted a two-run circuit smash in the first inning to start the Red Birds to their 6-1 Triumph over the Brews Friday. The loss cut Milwaukee's lead to 19 percentage points over the second-spot Blues.

Louisville moved to within two games of Milwaukee with a 9-3 victory at Minneapolis.

St. Paul climbed into a fourth-place deadlock with the Millers by nipping Indianapolis, 4-3.

Steubenville Asks Hearing On Probation

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state board of the Ohio High School Athletic Association will ponder Steubenville High School's request for a new hearing on a probation order.

The board placed the "Big Red" athletic teams on probation for the 1952-53 season, following a near riot at the March 8 Steubenville-Wellsville basketball game. Wellsville was placed on probation until the end of the next basketball season.

Newt Oliver, Wellsville mentor, reportedly gave Coach Alex Vaccaro of Steubenville a black eye during the district finals game. Steubenville beat Wellsville, and was undefeated until losing to Middletown in the state Class A finals.

Ralph M. Gantz, superintendent of Steubenville schools, told acting Commissioner W. J. McConnell he has new pertinent and valuable testimony" on the incident.

McConnell told Gantz to submit it in writing and promised the board would consider it. He added in a letter to Gantz the board would be unable to hear the testimony at its May 23-24 meeting here.

Singleway Wins Top Race at Lebanon Meet

LEBANON, O. (AP)—Singleway, owned by Earl D. Gibbs of Medina won both heats of the feature 21-20 Class pace at the Lebanon harness race meeting here Friday night.

Singleway, driven by Don Stokes, of near Medina, led Bob Pointer to the finish line in both heats. He took the first one in 2.12 and the second in 2:10 4/5. A Class A pace, with Red Brewer and Clemons Abbe as the co-favorites, will headline tonight's nine-race program.

NAMER AKRON U. COACH

AKRON, O. (AP)—Kenneth (Red) Cochrane is the new University of Akron football coach, but he isn't happy about it. The new mentor has been athletic director at the school since 1948 and he said it would be too hard on his health to handle both jobs. The school's directors named him to the new post Friday. They promised they would attempt to find a new coach to relieve him next year.

Personnel Club Hears Talk By Columbus Man

H. F. Gross, director of industrial relations of the M. and R. Dietetic Laboratories, Inc., Columbus, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Personnel Club of the Marion Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at the Snyder Hotel.

The meeting was in charge of Tim Wyant, chairman. Gross was introduced by Fred B. Scherff, manager of the Marion office of the Ohio State Employment Service, who was program chairman for the meeting.

Gross's subject was "Are We Qualified Employers." The theme of his talk was that the employment of job applicants is a "two-way street." Employers require job applicants to be qualified for the job for which they are being considered and more and more are endeavoring to demonstrate to applicants that they are qualified employers. Merely the getting or the filling of a job is not to the liking of employer or employe, providing a job career is what both are seeking. Applicants must prove they can and will do the job. Employers must provide opportunity for security, for job advancement, for personal protection—financial and physical — for the applicant and his family.

Gross demonstrated his talk with charts and booklets, showing that most employers are discussing job openings on the basis of the realization that while the employer expects to hire a qualified employe, he also expects to be able to demonstrate to the applicant that the job he is considering will provide him with a future.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 31406.

William Buyer, Plaintiff, vs. Fred Buyer, et al, Defendants.

In pursuance of an Order of Sale issued from said Court to me directed in the above entitled action, I will expose to sale, at public auction, at the East door of the Court House in Marion, Marion County, Ohio, on Monday the 26th day of May, 1952, at 10 o'clock A.M., the following described real estate, situate in the County of Marion and State of Ohio, and in the Township of Bowling Green to-wit:

Known as 26 36/100 acres of land off of the East end of the seventy-nine (79) acre tract of land formerly owned by Joseph Orr in Military Survey Number 258 in said township, and described as follows.

Beginning at a stone Southeast corner of a twenty-five (25) acre lot belonging to M. O. Watkin's heirs, thence with South line of J. D. Sager's land, North 89¾ degrees East 65 36/100 rods to a stake in center of road and corner to said Sager's land; thence with the center of said road and East line of said survey South seven and three-fourths (7¾) degrees East sixty-three and four-tenths (63 4/10) rods to the Northeast corner of I. F. Sager's lot, thence with his North line and center of road South eighty-one (81) degrees, West sixty-five and thirty-six one-hundredths (65 36/100) rods to a stone in center of road; thence North seven and three-fourths (7¾) degrees, West 63 4/10 rods to the place of beginning, containing 28 36/100 acres, more or less.

Also the following parcel of land coming into possession by will from his mother, Roseba Harris, duly admitted to probate on the 8th day of March, A.D. 1915, and recorded in Will Book, Volume 13, page 272 and devised absolutely to Peter Harris, to-wit: the following described real estate situated in the township of Bowling Green, County of Marion, State of Ohio, and known as being part of Survey Number 258 and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a stake in the center of a County Road and in the West line of said survey from which a beech ten (10) inches in diameter bears North eight (8) degrees, East thirty-two (32) links; thence South ten (10) degrees, East 56 8/10 poles to a stake; thence North eighty (80) degrees, East 99 8/10 poles to a stake from which a Burr oak six (6) inches in diameter bears North sixty-five (65) degrees, West twenty-two (22) links; thence North ten (10) degrees, West 3a 2/10 poles to a point in the center of said County Road, South eighty-one (81) degrees, West 99 5/10 poles to the place of beginning, containing 22 52/100 acres of land, more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

ALSO THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED REAL ESTATE: Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio and in the township of Bowling Green and known as being part of Virginia Military Survey Number 9063, Beginning at a post in the center of a county road and in the West patent line of said survey and Northwest corner to land sold Lawrence Barlow; thence with said patent line and the center of said road North eight (8) degrees, West 10.5 poles to a post from which an ash fourteen (14) inches in diameter bears North seventy-seven (77) degrees, East eighty (80) links, corner to land sold to Cleland; thence with said Cleland's South line North seventy-eight and one-half (78½) degrees East 101 poles to a stake Northwest corner to land sold to J. Wilson; thence with said Wilson's West line, South eight (8) degrees, East 40 poles to a stake in the center of county road, corner to said Wilson's land and also said Barlow's land; thence with the center of said road and Barlow's North line, South 78¼ degrees West 101 poles to the place of beginning, containing twenty-five and forty one-hundredths (25 40/100) acres, more or less.

ALSO: Situated in the same survey as above and known as beginning at a post in the North line of John Wilson's land and twenty-four (24) poles East of his Northwest corner from which a beech ten (10) inches in diameter bears North eight (8) degrees, East thirty-two (32) links; thence South ten (10) degrees, East 56 8/10 poles to a stake; thence North eighty (80) degrees, East 99 8/10 poles to a stake from which a Burr oak six (6) inches in diameter bears North sixty-five (65) degrees, West twenty-two (22) links; thence North ten (10) degrees, West 3a 2/10 poles to a point in the center of said County Road, South eighty-one (81) degrees, West 99 5/10 poles to the place of beginning, containing 22 52/100 acres of land, more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

Confident Living

How You Can Cast Out Your Fears

By Norman Vincent Peale

THE TOPIC ON WHICH I write today was suggested to me by a New England physician, a man of prominence and reputation in his home community.

"At least twice a year," he wrote me, "I think you ought to take up the subject of fear, for I have found, in my practice, that fear either accelerates or causes many human maladies."

"The best cure I know," his letter went on, "is to apply the only power which is stronger than fear — faith. If you can drive some real faith into the hearts and minds of our people you'll help them cast aside their fears, and that will give them better health."

Dr. Peale

Both this understanding doctor and I have learned from experience that the human being is a great complex of varying factors with many inheritances carried over from early youth and childhood which still condition each individual's thinking and reactions.

I've started to read a most interesting book in which the author tells the story of having been afflicted by stomach pains, dizzy sensations, sinus trouble and other pain. Yet medical examiners could find nothing wrong with her. They finally suggested that perhaps her problem was psychosomatic—that is, arising from psychological difficulties — and suggested that she visit a psychiatrist.

AFTER MANY INTERVIEWS, the psychiatrist was able to lead this troubled person to recall a forgotten incident in her childhood and to realize that a basic antagonism toward her mother had produced guilt feelings and fear. When she stopped sobbing out the story that brought her to full understanding of her problem, she was able, suddenly, to say to the psychiatrist that the sinus and the other pain had disappeared. And learning to cast out her hate and fear, she was able also to cast out her pain.

That is why the alliance between religion and psychiatry is so important. As the doctor wrote me, only faith can cast out fear. And the mission of religion is to teach people not to hate and not to fear, but to love and live confidently instead. We're beginning to uncover a truth which many of us may find hard to understand; that is, there is no cell in the human body which is apart from the control of Almighty God. It is worth keeping in mind that the word "holy" is derived from the word "wholeness."

IF YOU WILL TAKE your Bible and open it to the 38th Psalm, you will find a formula that can give you the faith which will help you cast out your own fears and find your way to physical and mental wholeness. One line gives you an answer which is as true as true can be: "I sought the Lord and He heard me and delivered me from all my fears."

This is one of the greatest passages ever written. Master it. Say it over and over to yourself. Put it into practice. It will help you to cast out your fears.

As you begin to put this formula into practice in your own life, the first thing to do is to be resolute; determine beyond question to master your fears. Wendell Willkie once said to me, "All my life I have discovered that, when I stood up like a man to the things I was afraid of, they shrunk to insignificance."

THE SECOND THING to do is to remember that fear is merely a pattern of thought. It's not real; it's not a substance; it's only a thought. Faith, too, is only a thought. But faith is a more powerful thought than fear. And, if you fill your mind with faith, you will drive fear out of it, for fear can not live in the same place with real faith.

Start today, right now, to fill your mind with faith and to acquire the determination to master your fears. Use the Bible, use prayer, use Church attendance and meditation, for all will help you. Let faith well up within you; as it grows strong it will cast out all your fears.

Galion, District Firms Awarded Defense Contracts

Two Galion firms have been awarded government contracts for furnishing materials for the Armed Forces. Announcement of the contracts was made by the regional office of the U. S. Labor Department at Cleveland.

The two firms are North Electric Manufacturing Co., which received a contract calling for $421,000 in telegraph equipment for use by the Army, and the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co., which received a contract for delivery of construction equipment parts to the Army valued at $17,000.

Also included in the list of contracts were two; one awarded the Baldwin-Lima - Hamilton Co. at Lima, one for $21,000 worth of bushings and one for crane shovels valued at $799,000, both for the Navy.

The Sunray Stove Co. at Delaware was awarded a $66,000 contract for gas ranges to be used by the Army.

Union To Buy Circus Tickets For Children

Fifty school children will be treated to the circus when the Hagen Brothers Circus comes to Marion next month.

Local 1039, UAW-CIO, of Marion Industries, division of Motor Products Corps., voted to purchase 50 tickets to the circus for children when members met recently at the union hall.

A total of $30 was donated for tickets. The circus will appear at Drake's lot June 3. The show is sponsored by G. I. Post 584 of the American Legion.

Members also passed a resolution favoring the United Appeals Drive.

ing of the secrecy and cover-up that is so characteristic of our present administration in which so many military men, led by General George Marshall, have played such an important part.

Although this speech of General MacArthur will be accepted as political in the sense that he warns the nation against Eisenhower, it is much more than that It is a warning against militarism, against control of the economy of the nation by the Pentagon. For his greatest emphasis is on this:

"Indeed, it is part of the general pattern of misguided policy that our country is now geared to an arms economy which was bred in an artificially induced psychosis of war hysteria and nurtured upon the incessant propaganda of fear. While such an economy may produce a sense of seeming prosperity for the moment, it rests on an illusionary foundation of complete unreliability and renders among our political leaders almost a greater fear of peace than is their fear of war . . ."

These words need to be pondered in the face of a $100,000,000,000 budget.

FISH HOOKS MAN

HONG KONG (UP)—A "man bites dog" story would not interest Au Yang-yi. He has been hooked by a fish, Au, a fishmonger's helper, was eating fish heads when he bit down on a hook.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Board of Marion County Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, in Marion, Ohio, until June 2, 1952, at ten o'clock A.M. (E. S.T.) for furnishing all material and performing all labor required for drag and surface treating of certain improved roads of the Marion County Highway system, said roads being designated by the Board of County Commissioners in their resolution adopted May 15, 1952.

Said improvement to be done in accordance with the specifications and plans on file in the office of the Marion County Engineer. Quotations to be submitted upon blanks furnished by the County Engineer and not to exceed the total estimate of $132,371.35.

Contractor to specify the unit bid price and all material to comply with and work done in accordance with Ohio State Highway Specifications of 1952 for type T-31 and T-32.

Sealed bids will be publicly opened off the above date, read and an award made at that or at such time to which consideration of said bids may be duly adjourned, as provided by law.

Each bid must be accompanied by cash or certified check on some solvent bank in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the estimated cost of the improvement, made payable to the order of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, for the benefit of said County, which will be forfeited by the successful bidder or bidders in case they fail to enter into a contract and bond within five days from date of award.

The successful bidder will be required to give bond in an amount equal to one-half of the estimated cost of the improvement with two sureties or a surety company to the said Board of Commissioners for the proper construction and completion of the work.

The contractor will also be required to furnish at the unit bid prices of the County proposal the necessary material and labor to treat such roads on the Township Highway system which are in addition to and a part of the 1952 program.

The minimum wage to be paid to all labor employed on this contract shall be in accordance with the schedule of prevailing hourly wage rates in Marion County as ascertained and determined by the Department of Industrial Relations, in accordance with Sections 17-3, 17-4, 17-4a, 17-5 and 17-5a of the General Code of Ohio.

Bids must be signed by all parties interested in the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board of County Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.

W. S. Guthrie, Clerk of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.

May 17,1952

May 3,10,17,24,31 June 7,1952.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the matter of the Idleman Single County Ditch No. 426, petitioned for by Charles H. Kirby.

To each person signing or named in the petition and to each other person affected by said improvement.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 15th, day of May, 1952, the above named petitioner filed a petition with the County Auditor of Marion County, Ohio, for the reconstruction, deepening, widening and cleaning of the Idleman Single County Ditch.

The construction of the improvement is necessary and will be conducive to the public welfare.

The following is the course and termini of said proposed improvement, to-wit: Commencing at the end of the tile of the Idleman Ditch on or near the land of Charles Kirby in the village of Prospect; thence following on or near the line of the present open ditch to the Scioto River. Also repairing of the main tile of the Idleman Ditch where required or any necessary reconstruction.

It is claimed that the improvement will affect property owned by you.

You are therefore notified that the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, have fixed the 12th. day of June, 1952, at ten o'clock A.M., at the upper terminus of the improvement for the view thereon, and have fixed the 26th. day of June, 1952, at ten o'clock A.M., at the office of the County Commissioners in Marion, Ohio, for the first hearing on the proposed improvement.

Board of County Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.

By W. S. Guthrie, Clerk.

. . . . CITIZEN, DO YOU KNOW WHY A HOLDUP MAN CAN SO EASILY STOP YOU ON A DARK STREET, SLUG YOU IN THE HEAD AND TAKE YOUR MONEY?
IT'S BECAUSE HE HAS HAD THE DIRTY DEAL ALL PLANNED AND SET UP WHILE YOU HAVE BEEN GOING ABOUT YOUR BUSINESS, OBEYING THE RULES; TRYING TO JUSTIFY YOUR EXISTENCE WITHOUT PUSHING ANYBODY AROUND... SO HE HAS YOU OFF YOUR BALANCE—AND A SETUP...
IT'S LIKE THAT WITH NATIONS! RIGHT NOW WE'RE BEING FORCED TO KEEP OUR GUARD UP SO WE WON'T BE SAPPED AS WE WERE AT PEARL HARBOR.
PROTECTION MEANS PEOPLE...NOT A GANG OF PROFESSIONAL TOUGH GUYS, BUT YOUR NEIGHBORS AND FRIENDS WHO GOT THE NOD TO GO OUT AND STAND A TOUR OF GUARD DUTY WHILE YOU MIND THE STORE AND GET YOUR STRAIGHT EIGHT AT NIGHT...
THIS IS ARMED FORCES DAY, CITIZEN... EXAMINE YOUR SOUL AND GIVE THANKS TO THE GOOD JOES WHO GUARANTEE THAT IT STAYS YOUR OWN!

HOGS SCENE IN FARMER'S DRIVE. No hog caller is Billie Nelson, but she's an excellent attention-caller for pig farmer Henry Krajewski, of Secaucus, N.J., who is a candidate for President on the "Poor Man's Party" ticket. Ready to start on a campaign tour, Billie pays a visit to the Krajewski farm where she finds a hog doing its own rooting.

Bill Dole, recently named head football coach at Davidson College, is a graduate of West Virginia University.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime By H. T. Webster

OF COURSE IT MEANS A LONG, HARD FIGHT, BUT IF YOU ARE DETERMINED TO QUIT YOU CAN. I THINK YOU SHOULD TAPER OFF. TRY CUTTING DOWN FROM THREE DECKS TO TWO AND GETTING ALONG WITH ONLY CANASTA FOR A COUPLE OF YEARS. THEN BEGIN GRADUALLY TO SUBSTITUTE A LITTLE BRIDGE, AND BEFORE YOU KNOW IT YOU WILL BE ON THE ROAD TO COMPLETE RECOVERY. REMEMBER YOU ARE DEALING WITH A DISEASE AND THERE IS NO EASY CURE
